

Nixon Delivers Globe-Ranging Message

Vietnam Most Anguishing Problem

PRESIDENT NIXON

WASHINGTON (AP) President Nixon today charged Hanoi with broadening the Vietnam war into an Indochina conflict and predicted the United States and its allies will have more hard choices in combatting possible new enemy thrusts in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

In a globe-ranging report officially directed to Congress but aimed at the nation and the rest of the world, Nixon keyed his message to a quest for "a full generation of peace" this century. But, he said, "If winding down the war is my greatest satisfaction in foreign policy, the failure to end it is my deepest disappointment."

He pledged to continue the winding down of the U. S. troop withdrawal from South Vietnam. But in stark contrast to his declared global peace goal, his projection for Indochina emphasized the broadened war and increased American aid and air support for allied ground forces. The 65,000 word report, covering 180 pages and accompanied by a nationwide radio speech, was the second Nixon report on the role of the United States in world affairs since he took office.

In discussing the Indochina crisis at considerable detail, Nixon gave a deeply pessimistic report about the prospects for a negotiated settlement.

He had "frankly expected" some kind of action from the North Vietnamese-Viet Cong side last year. Nixon stated, when he expanded political principles for a settlement and appointed ambassador David Bruce as peace negotiator.

In this, he indicated, he was completely disappointed. But "We will not give up on negotiations," he said.

"There is the additional fact that as our forces decline, the role we can play on many aspects of a settlement is also bound to decline," he added.

Nixon appealed for trust in his leadership as he seeks to develop what he called a new, more restrained world role for the United States.

But the major concern of the message throughout was with what he called the "most anguishing problem" of Vietnam. "Hanoi has made the war an Indochina conflict," Nixon stated, with some 240,000 North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos, including a few Viet Cong in Cambodia.

"Enemy intentions and capabilities in Indochina will pose some hard choices about the deployment of allied troops as we pursue our withdrawals," he continued, and North Vietnamese actions (in Laos and Cambodia) could require high levels of American assistance and air operations in order to further Vietnamization and our withdrawals.

The theme of frustration in a new, less burdensome policy line for the United States in world affairs. He appealed for understanding and perhaps argued against any new swing into American isolationism.

To point up his approach to world affairs Nixon also covered these areas in his message:

Mideast
Nixon gave Moscow a barely concealed warning not to try to dominate the Middle East which he called militarily and economically vital to the Western alliance.

The United States recognizes "the Soviet Union has important interests" in the region, Nixon said. But he added the U.S. does not seek a dominant position and "we cannot allow others to establish one."

Nixon told the American people that he was trying to shape

The growth of Soviet nuclear power to parity with the United States "could tempt Soviet leaders into bolder challenges," Nixon said. Errors of judgment by Moscow may have contributed to the Middle East crisis last summer and to Soviet naval actions in the Caribbean last fall.

Apparently Nixon meant that in its support for Egypt in moving anti-aircraft missiles close to the Suez Canal, and in the Caribbean cruises of nuclear submarines, the Soviet leadership was probing U.S. intentions and firmness.

"In our relations with the USSR," Nixon said, "there should be no misconceptions of the role we play in international affairs... we prefer negotiation and restraint as the methods to adjust differences. But when challenged the United States will defend its interests and those of its allies."

Arms Limitation
Nixon virtually rejected a pending Soviet proposal to limit antiballistic missile systems apart from all other nuclear weapons systems.

The United States is expected to turn down the Russian proposal when the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks resume in Vienna March 15.

Nixon said meanwhile he would continue building the U.S. ABM system. "The strategic balance would be in danger if we limited defensive forces alone," Nixon said, "and left the offensive threat to our strategy in presidential language, (Continued on Page 8, Col. 4)

PENTAGON BRIEFING—At a Pentagon news conference Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird said that South Vietnamese forces in Laos "are achieving their objective of major disruption of enemy supply routes." ## Tank-Led Reds Overrun S. Viet Paratroop Base

SAIGON (UPI) — Tank-led Communist troops today overran the South Vietnamese paratroop base on Hill 31 in Laos and shot down an American F4 Phantom jet fighter-bomber trying to come to the aid of the embattled outpost.

U.S. planes immediately moved in to begin "blowing away" the fallen base with massive air strikes.

Military sources said Hill 31 was overrun after three hours of heavy fighting on the third day of intense Communist pressure. The base, 15 miles inside Laos, was bombarded by Communist tanks which U.S. helicopter pilots reported had "surrounded the place."

The sources also reported that U.S. helicopter gunships accidentally killed nine South Vietnamese soldiers and wounded 31 others.

Pilots returning to Khe Sanh, inside South Vietnam, said the Communist tanks around Hill 31 seemed impervious to their rockets.

"...I hit one tank three times but it kept on moving," said Capt. Jack Idaholt of Savannah, Ga.

The U.S. Phantom jet crashed some distance from Hill 31 and its two crewmen were rescued.

Heavy Communist gunfire had kept U.S. helicopters away from the beleaguered Hill 31 base for three days. It is a few miles from Landing Zone Ranger, where South Vietnamese forces suffered heavy losses last week in their U.S.-backed drive to cut the Ho Chi Minh supply trail system in Laos.

The base is named for its height in meters.

Within 15 minutes after the fall of Hill 31, U.S. air strikes began "blowing away" the outpost, military sources said. Artillery fire was also directed against the base although pilots flying the attacking aircraft reported no letup in anti-aircraft fire even as dusk fell.

"I've been shot at before but when you see air bursts out your window, you know it's bad," Idaholt said.

"Cobras are not designed to fight tanks," he said, referring to U.S. AH1 Cobra helicopter gunships.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said, meanwhile, that South Vietnamese infantrymen aided by U.S. air strikes had killed 109 Communist troops 12 miles southwest of the Laotian town of Lao Bao on Highway 9.

UPI correspondent Joseph L. Galloway, reporting from Artillery Base Delta just inside Laos, said government troops backed by U.S. fighter bombers killed another 159 North Vietnamese troops in an area 18 miles southwest of the U.S. base at Lang Vei.

Col. Nguyen Van Diem, commander of the South Vietnamese 1st Division's 1st Regiment, told Galloway today, Penh Wednesday night. The "I estimate we killed more than 200 of them with combined air strikes, artillery and ground attacks" at Hill 31.

In Saigon, the U.S. Command reported 59 Americans killed in the war last week, the highest weekly death toll of the year. Military sources attributed the increase to the Laotian campaign.

In Cambodia, Communist gunners shelled an army fuel depot and an infantry training camp within sight of Phnom Penh Wednesday night. The attacks were the closest to the capital since a rocket attack Feb. 11.

Paris (UPI)—Chief Hanoi peace negotiator Xuan Thuy charged today the United States is "feverishly preparing" to attack North Vietnam.

The Hanoi negotiator went beyond his previous comments that President Nixon was merely threatening Hanoi with invasion.

Earlier a deputy for Viet Cong Foreign Minister Madame Nguyen Thi Binh said the South Vietnamese incursion into Laos was turning into a military setback for the Allies.

U.S. Ambassador David K. E.

Bruce called on the Communists to "cease your polemics" and deal with the issues of obtaining a cease-fire, treatment and release of prisoners, troop withdrawals, a broader conference to deal with the entire Indochina conflict and a political settlement in South Vietnam.

Bruce insisted, as he did last week, that North Vietnam's statements constituted an admission that there are North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

Thuy said "the Nixon administration is feverishly prepar-

North Vietnam Again Bares Attack Charge

ing for attacks against North Vietnam, causing an extremely serious situation in Asia and in the world."

The Hanoi negotiator reading from a prepared speech during today's 104th meeting of the Paris peace talks, said the United States had reinforced its air power on the U.S. 7th fleet, in Thailand and in South Vietnam, stationed U. S. Marines off the coast of Vietnam, and arranged for Thai troops to be introduced into Laos.

The official government statement made these charges:

for more than two years has unleashed its aggression against South Vietnam and repeated its acts of war against North Vietnam. "But Mr. Nixon claims he wants to find a peaceful end to the Vietnamese problem. That is the first lie."

The Nixon administration committed aggression against Cambodia last March and April and this year has proceeded with the "massive invasion of Laos with American and Saigon puppet troops. He claims it is the Vietnamese people and the North Vietnamese who have spread the war throughout Indochina. This is the second lie."

"The Nixon administration 'refuses to give a positive, serious reply' to the Communists 10-point and 8-point peace proposals 'yet Mr. Nixon says that he still wants to negotiate. That is the third lie.'"

Before the meeting opened, Thuy warned that Nixon's policies were a direct threat to Communist China.

The Hanoi spokesman rejected the U.S. contention that North Vietnam was to blame for the extension of the Vietnam conflict to Cambodia and Laos.

2 Firemen Hurt Fighting Blaze At Daily Freeman Warehouse

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON

Investigation was underway today by city detectives and fire officials seeking to uncover the cause of the two-alarm fire Wednesday night that heavily damaged The Daily Freeman warehouse off Broadway at the rear of the Rondout Savings Bank.

Two paid firemen were injured while assisting at the scene of the blaze.

One section of the building had been occupied as a warehouse by Standard Furniture Company.

An executive of The Daily Freeman said today after an examination of the warehouse, the uptown store had removed all merchandise from the building recently. Most of the fire damage last night was caused to that area of the structure.

The Freeman official said the newspaper's section of the warehouse was not seriously damaged, and the full stock of newspapers was not harmed.

It was the second multiple alarm fire to occur in the city in the last nine days. Investigation of that first blaze which destroyed a large warehouse of the John M. Rapp Van Lines, Inc., off Broadway, resulted in the arrest of three juvenile boys who were subsequently charged with burglary and arson.

Late last month, police investigated a report of an attempted burglary at The Freeman warehouse. That incident is still under investigation.

It was shortly after 11:25 p.m. last night that a woman resident of Delaware Avenue telephoned Central Fire Station and informed a dispatcher of the fire in the warehouse near her home.

Five fire companies were dispatched to the scene in command of Chief James M. Brett and Deputy Chief Harry Sills. On arrival, firefighters saw the center section of the one and two-story brick structure heavily involved in fire and the entire building was strongly charged with heat and dense smoke.

Deputy Sills ordered the second alarm sounded at 11:28 p.m. two minutes after the first call was sent in.

The second alarm called out all apparatus in the city, including the volunteer fire companies. All off-duty firefighters were ordered back to duty to assist in battling the flames.

Injured as they assisted at the fire were firefighters Floyd Finch and Francis Diamond, who were treated at Kingston Hospital. Finch received lacerations of the left cheek and Diamond was treated for injuries of the right hand.

All fire units were back in service at 3:49 a. m.

Extracurriculum At Ulster Hose

TOWN OF ULSTER

Soundproofing of fire stations may be mandatory in the future after what happened Tuesday night at Ulster Hose Company station at Lake Katrine.

A state police patrol noticed all the windows covered and noises bordering on mild commotion to giggling and laughter coming from the hose rooms. Subsequently investigation disclosed that an "indecent performance" was taking place, as it was described by the arresting officers.

Arrested for obscenity were

Evelyn Peterson, 25, of St. Lasher Place, Beacon, and Blanche Cassel, 40, of Grand Street, Newburgh, who according to troopers were performing in various stages of undress. At arraignment before Town of Kingston Justice Robert Ferrigan, both paid fines of $25 each and were released. Promoters of the show could not be determined.

The two performers made a futile attempt to cover up as the officers burst into the hall. Amid the scramble of "patrons" through the doors and windows, one of the girls addressing the officer as "great white chief," pleaded, "Don't look us up for this. In Newburgh they give us a warning."

One of the troopers on the raid said, "They fled like thieves through doors and windows," until only one man on crutches remained. It had been reported that entry to the "performance" cost $5, but there was no one who would admit as to whom collected the money.

The performance was interrupted after 40 minutes but there were no requests for a refund.

INSPECT HELIPORT SITE — Sister Mary Charles (C) administrator of Benedictine Hospital had the first opportunity Wednesday to inspect the site of the proposed 50 by 50 foot heliport from the air. It is expected that the concrete slab will be poured at the rear of the hospital as soon as weather permits, and dedication will be late in May or early June. With Sister Mary Charles at Kingston Ulster Airport are Mrs. James Duncan (L) of Hidden Valley, a member of the Benedictine Auxiliary and Mrs. Gale Brownlee, fund raising chairman, who was the pilot for the flight. About $3,500 has been raised so far toward the goal of $4,500. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Rocky's Taxes Assailed Senior Council in Uproar

KINGSTON — Warning that a "whole class of people may become impoverished," the Ulster County Senior Citizens Alliance, Inc. has expressed strong disfavor over the new tax proposals cited recently by New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller. Claiming that the Governor's proposals, "are not making serious attempts to deal with or to solve the plight of the older American," Louis Weitz, president of the group, said today that the tax proposals will compound the economic problems of Senior Citizens.

"Senior Citizens savings are successively crumbling away through planned inflation, year after year," contends Weitz and, he added, "By denying them employment opportunities, the circumstances might be."

It makes it extra difficult for Senior Citizens to earn a limited living.

The inevitable effect of the tax hike on the incomes of Senior Citizens, claims Weitz, will be to force more of them onto the welfare rolls, despite the fact that "any survey will show that there is a great reluctance on the part of Senior Citizens to become welfare prospects. Citizens will work for changes. There is a fierce determination in the proposals 'before we are on there part to remain self-sufficient out of existence.'"

City Reins Going to Youth

KINGSTON — The City of Kingston will mark the first of several Youth in Government Days on Tuesday, March 2 with a tour of city hall by members of the Kingston Colonial Chapter of the Order of DeMolay, accompanied by city officials.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig will lead the tour of city hall, joined by Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo and Common Council Majority Leader Edward M. Norton and Minority Leader John L. Machione. At noon a luncheon will be served by the recreation department in the municipal auditorium.

On March 24 the same young men will take over all city offices at 9 a. m. and hold a seminar with the Common Council. They will assemble prior to assuming office in the Council Chambers at 8:45 a. m.

City Man Injured In Auto Accident

KINGSTON — A Kingston man was slightly injured Wednesday when his car hit by another vehicle on Route 9 in this town.

Rhinebeck State Police reported Derek Crites, 18, of Staatsburg, was northbound on the highway when a car ahead of him slowed. Crites applied his brakes and the vehicle slid to the right, struck a pile of snow and then skidded back into the southbound lane where it hit a southbound automobile driven by Earl Sleight Jr., 52, of R.D. 2, Box 94, Kingston.

Sleight complained of neck pains, troopers said.

HYDE PARK — A 24-year-old man was arrested Wednesday by State Police BCI officers on a charge of criminal possession of a dangerous weapon, a .22 caliber pistol.

Peter Theodore Owens, of R.D. 1, Kerhonkson, was arraigned before Rochester Town Justice Harold Lipton. He pleaded guilty and was fined $25, troopers said.

Task Forces in Action

KINGSTON — The Total Community Development program of Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce gained added momentum at meetings of two task forces, environment and education, Wednesday night and both reported progress.

The Education Task Force headed by Robert Yallum after a review of vital topics gave first priority to the investigation of a possible 12-months school year for schools of the area.

Yallum said each member of the force will individually research the subject, write letters and check with other school districts. The Task Force will meet again in two weeks at a time and place to be announced.

The discussion on a 12-months school year brought out the possible savings by using existing facilities. When a high school becomes too small there might be a saving by using the building 12 months out of the year and on a four-quarter basis. A student would be attending for three quarters. The Task Force will probe to determine if this would alleviate a crowding problem.

The Environmental Task Force headed by Howard Rust focused its attention to recycling and is planning a paper and aluminum can drive Saturday, March 13 with Vincent Netherwell and William Hutton as drive co-chairmen.

They urged all citizens to save papers, magazines and aluminum cans, flattened if possible for the drive. The site of a collection terminal will be announced.

Rick Jacobs of Ulster County Planning Office spoke to the gathering of about 50. The county sanitary landfill study was reviewed. There were some remarks from the audience that they thought the landfill plan was a temporary solution and that recycling was the major solution to the mounting refuse problem.

Mrs. Sherley Kobran was named to serve as co-chairman with Rust.

The next meeting will be March 3 at Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, Wall Street at 7:30 p.m.

GOP Leaders Vow More Budget Cuts

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Republican legislative leaders vowed today to make major cuts in Governor Rockefeller's $8.5 billion budget, but unhappily admitted that even their most severe efforts would fall short of eliminating all of the $1.1 billion tax increase.

The main target of the legislative budget trimmers was the $1 billion welfare budget. Many conservative lawmakers called for New York to follow the lead of California Gov. Ronald Reagan in cutting $700 million from welfare funds.

"There's a lot of sentiment for cutting the budget and we're going to as much as possible," said Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea.

"Welfare is one of the areas where there is great pressure, but we're withholding any comment on specific cuts at this time."

Duryea's comments came after a stormy closed-door conference of Republican assemblymen that at times broke into a shouting match. Most of the sentiment among the rank and file was for deep cuts in the spending program, but Assembly fiscal experts told them it's not that simple.

Major changes in state laws mandating costs would be needed before significant cuts can be made, Duryea said.

Estimates of planned budget cuts ranged from a low of $250 million to an optimistic high of $750 million. The main aim of budget cutters is to eliminate the need for the 10 per cent income tax surcharge proposed by Rockefeller. This would take a reduction of $200 million.

Many lawmakers admit it would be difficult to cut deeper than this in the state's spending program.

If this were the maximum cut, taxpayers would still face a one cent increase on the sales tax, higher auto and drivers' license fees, higher business taxes and new levies on high wage earners.

Many lawmakers feel that present welfare benefits are too high and should be cut across the board.

The kind of example that irks conservatives is the present situation for an average family of four on welfare in New York City.

Their basic allowance is just under $3,000. But added to this is $1,260 for shelter and fuel, $1,100 for medical care, $370 for transportation and $288 in food stamp benefits.

When all this is added up it comes to nearly $6,000 a year, all tax-free.

For the average worker to have this much money after taxes, he would have to make at least $7,000 a year. Conservatives point out this salary is above the present starting level for a secretary or laborer on the state pay scale.

"Where's the incentive to get a job when they can make more on welfare?" one GOP lawmaker asked Social Services Commissioner George K. Wyman at a budget hearing.

"It appears current welfare levels are out of tune, in fact running ahead, of the economic conditions in this state," the lawmaker said.

Wyman said that even without changes in the benefit levels, the welfare caseload in the coming year will increase by 16.3 per cent.

No June Primary This Year

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — For the first time in five years New Yorkers won't be going to the polls to vote in a primary this June.

When Governor Rockefeller signs a bill passed by the legislature Wednesday, the primary for this year will be set for Sept. 14. In years after that, it will float around to be set at the whim of the legislature.

The issue was a highly partisan one. Democrats for the most part opposed any change. It was under their leadership in 1965 the permanent June primary was established.

Republicans passed the bill by the narrowest of margins—three votes in each house—and Rockefeller has indicated he will go along with the change.

The League of Women Voters, the Citizens' Union and other "good government" groups have voiced strong opposition to the measure, which leaves only seven weeks between primary elections and the general election in November.

Republicans said the main reason for the fall primary this year was to give local governments time to reapportion under the new census. GOP lawmakers said remapping figures won't be ready in time for the June primary.

But on the floor of the Assembly, Democrats quoted census bureau officials as saying that the figures won't be ready by the fall primary anyway. Democrats said that only

Monroe, Suffolk, Nassau and Herkimer counties were under court order to reapportion, and if necessary a special bill could be passed moving up the primary only in those counties.

Assembly Majority Leader John E. Kingston, R-Westbury said he knew of 18 local governments that were planning to reapportion this year.

There were a number of other

Rockefeller, Reagan Urge Political Muscle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican governors of the two most populous states have urged colleagues to use some political muscle back home in a quest for new federal financial help.

California's Ronald Reagan suggesting "we can drop a little bomb" on Congress.

Challenging Democratic skeptics at the National Governors' Conference, Reagan and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said the governors can win enactment in this Congress of the $5-billion program President Nixon has proposed to send unfettered federal aid to states and cities.

Rockefeller said if Congress does not act by summertime, financial woes of cities will worsen, and pressure will mount on big-city congressmen to vote for federal financial relief.

But Gov. John J. McKeithen of Louisiana, a Democrat, said he sees little chance for approval of unrestricted revenue sharing although he isn't opposed to the idea.

Meanwhile, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., planned to introduce an amendment today to double Nixon's revenue-sharing program to $10 billion and start it two months earlier, on July 1.

The amendment, he said, also would double to 2.6 per cent of the income tax base the money earmarked for revenue sharing but still would satisfy "some-what less than one-half the additional burdens being placed on state and local governments this year."

Republican Govs. Richard Ogilvie of Illinois and Daniel J. Evans of Washington said they were concerned news reports were creating the impression of division among the governors on revenue sharing.

Green on Tinker Street. Its owner is asking a variance to permit construction of a motel comprising 48 units with 44 parking spaces on Estates acreage adjoining Schoonmaker

Lane, a side road off Tinker Street.
The Estates also seeks a variance to permit construction of 124 townhouse apartments comprising 42 one-and-two-bedroom units and 82 efficiency and one-bedroom units with 213 adjacent parking spaces. Under present zoning regulations, Woodstock Estates premises are located partially within the C-1 commercial zone and partially within the R-2 residential zone. Several rental properties are already located on the acreage, as well as the main clubhouse, pool and tennis courts.

Tonight's meeting should be contested by Woodstockers at a public hearing; and the request for rezoning was denied by the town Board. Since Emerald Hill was to have been located some six miles from the center of town and the proposed Estates project is only short blocks from there, a hue and cry against the motel and townhouse apartments is expected tonight.

Ellenville Voting

Gray, Tannenbaum on Two Lines

By WADE BURKHART
ELLENVILLE
In a startling development, incumbent Ellenville Trustee Walter Grey and candidate Dr. Michael Tannenbaum have accepted the endorsement of the Independence Party and will run on both the Democratic and Independence party lines for line were filed with village clerk trustee in the March 16 village elections.

The petitions required for them to run on the Independence party lines were filed with village clerk

Lillian Finkelstein Feb. 22, and Feb. 23 were signed and accepted by the two candidates.
The full effects of this new complexity in an election already made complex by the Independence Party's Rivan Krieger as a third party candidate for mayor will not be shown until the election, but the big gainer in the mayor's race appears to be Krieger.

When contacted by The Freeman Wednesday night, Krieger said the Independence Party line was now "a fusion line, with myself, a Republican, and

Grey, a Democrat and Tannenbaum, a registered independent all on the ticket." He said his party had a "total line" and was now "a party to be reckoned with."

Krieger said he did not know what effect this endorsement might have on the other candidates for mayor, but it would have a beneficial effect on his.
Democratic candidate for mayor, Eugene Glusker, whose campaign may have suffered a setback in the move, was out of town and unavailable for comment.

Some Tickets Remain for Young GOP Fete

KINGSTON
"The Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel will be filled to capacity on Saturday, Feb. 27" according to Mrs. John Salapatis, ticket chairman of Republican Club's annual Republican Clubs annual cocktail party and dance.

Floyd Greer, co-chairman of the event and members of the club have been making preparations for the past month to make this one of the outstanding social evenings of the winter season.

For those who have not made ticket reservations it is suggested that they do so immediately through club members as only a limited supply will be available at the door.

Young Republicans will be bestowing honors on Judge John B. Sterley and Mrs. William A.
Krum who have been named Man and Woman of the Year by the club.

1970 Man of the Year James
A. Rapp will be master of ceremonies with County Clerk
Albert Spada, Ulster County Republican Party Chairman, and Mrs. William Brinnier, vice chairman, presenting the awards. Johnny Knapp and his orchestra will play for dancing with the festivities beginning at 9 p.m.

The original award was against both McGinnis and the former warden of Green Haven prison, Harold W. Follette, who has since died.

Judge Constance Baker Motley had made the award at the trial to Sostre, finding that he was punished because he was a black militant who wrote and expressed radical ideas.

Green Haven Inmate Awarded $9,300 by Court

NEW YORK (UPI)—The U.S.
Court of Appeals, in a 7-2 decision, Wednesday, gave an award of $9,300 to an inmate of Green Haven prison but did not say how or from whom it is to be collected.

The court held that Martin Sostre of Buffalo, while in Green Haven, was segregated as a punishment for violating prison regulations. But, the apellate judges vacated a lower court's directive that the award
to Sostre be against Paul Mc-Ginnis, then the state commissioner of correction.

The original award was against both McGinnis and the former warden of Green Haven
prison, Harold W. Follette, who has since died.

The Court of Appeals also set aside a lower court decision which had awarded Sostre $3,720
as a punishment for violating prison regulations. But, the ap-
ellate judges vacated a lower
court's directive that the award
to Sostre be against Paul Mc-Ginnis, then the state commissioner of correction.

For Church Parking

St. James Takes Option on Hotel

KINGSTON the church's board of trustees said the actual closing will not be held until all tenants in the 19th century landmark are relocated.

The church secured a 45-day option late in January from the owner, Louis Beckenstein, 1400 Woodstock Road, Woodstock. Finkle said Beckenstein has been notified by the church that the proposal has been approved by the Methodist congregation the church is district superintendent and the expiring the option and Hudson North District Building advised him to notify all Committee. The congregation tenants. When all tenants have approved it at a special meeting vacated the premises, a closing Feb. 16 and the proposal has for purchase will be scheduled, since been read at two suc-

Harold Finkle, president of Finkle said Beckenstein has owned the hotel since 1958, mailing to all members.

Although there is no demolition timetable as yet, Finkle said they expect to have space for parking about 30 cars with the entrance at 23 Pearl Street. He noted they had been in negotiations for quite some time and only recently agreed at the $36,000 figure.

The Huntington, which has about 40 rooms has been operated as a boarding house or hotel for about 55 years. In 1945, the proprietor, Carl M. Preston notified his guests that he and his wife planned to retire and close the boarding and rooming house they operated for years.

It later was owned by Sidney Treinkman who sold it in 1955 to Ulster Associates Inc., headed by Lawrence Jacobs, and Meyer Levy.

Johnson further noted that York city, or in a more centralized location. The Eastern meeting was transferred from Poughkeepsie to Kingston more than 30 years ago, but Johnson said that it would be "premature to say that we're all set for next year's show."

Farm Society — No Decision Yet

ROCHESTER fell into disfavor among exhibitors at the New York State Armory during the recent January show. Criticism concerning parking facilities, snow removal and fire safety regulations were heard from some quarters while the show was in progress.

Johnson indicated that Board members from the Hudson Valley region favor keeping the exposition in Kingston, but that there have been suggestions that the event for the past 30 years, been polled on the matter.

No decision has yet been made regarding Kingston's status as host of next year's Eastern meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society.

That was the word The Freeman has received from Herbert Johnson, secretary-treasurer of the Society, at headquarters in Rochester, Kingston, which has hosted the event for the past 30 years, been polled on the matter.

Religious Column To Debut Saturday

The Rev. Lester Kinsolving, whose religious column will appear on Saturday's editorial page of the Daily Freeman beginning this week, has a widely varied background that enables him to examine today's important moral and religious questions from a fresh, new perspective.

In his first column he explores the topic, Is Boxing Sinful? and makes some poignant observations on the "fighting millionaire minister," Muhammad Ali.

An ordained minister and experienced newspaper reporter, the Rev. Mr. Kinsolving has published numerous articles in nationally-read magazines and has appeared on a host of television news and talk shows. In addition, he has addressed audiences at more than 550 service clubs and colleges and universities throughout the country.

HV Dog Club Meets Saturday

HIGHLAND. Mrs. Connie Berkhart, licensed German Shepherd judge and well known breeder, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Hudson Valley German Shepherd Dog Club Saturday, Feb. 27, at Spero's Restaurant in Highland.

Mrs. Berkhart's topic of discussion will be The Foundation Bitch in the Breeding Program. Further information and reservations for the dinner meeting can be obtained from Mrs. James C. Sauls, Willow Tree Road, Milton.

At the Club's January meeting, new members inducted were Kathleen Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Nelson all of Newburgh and Mrs. Robert Williams and Mrs. John Giddings Cornwall.

New Insecticide

MILAN, Italy (UPI)—An Italian scientist said today he has developed a new weapon against harmful insects — a chemical which stops their growth and prevents them from reproducing instead of killing them.

Prof. Giorgio Ferrari of the Simes Research Laboratory said the new product will cost one-fifth the price of normal insecticides and, unlike DDT, is harmless to humans.

Consumer Protection

President Nixon is expected to send a consumer message to Congress soon, but 133 Democrats in the House have beaten him to the punch by sponsoring a bill to create a consumer protection agency with a wide authority and responsibility. Last year, a similar bill passed the Senate, 74 to 4, but held from House action by the Rules Committee.

Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, New York Democrat, chairman of a consumer task force of the Democratic Study Group, expects opposition from the White House but hopes to prod the President into acting upon the issue. Briefly, the object of the proposed new agency, is to "right an imbalance between the ability of the American business community to abuse the consumer and the ability of the government to protect him."

Since that sounds like a matter of justice, the administration is circulating a draft of a proposal to create an Institute for Consumer Justice, probably as a part of the Department of Justice. Such a proposal would be within the President's objective of reducing and combining departments and agencies, instead of multiplying them.

The trouble with most of these new ideas is that they produce new agencies and more bureaucrats, both in Washington and in the country as a whole, but the original aim is lost sight of by the competition for power. There are plenty of agencies and established departments that can handle these new situations, instead of spawning more.

What the congressmen lose sight of is that the money should be spent for protecting the consumer, not for giving jobs to political partisans. Protection for the consumer by all means, but not employment for deserving Democrats or Republicans, depending on who is in power at the time.

States Hike Taxes

Faced with rising costs and reduced real income, just like their citizens, 35 state legislatures are considering tax boosts that would raise their taxes a record $6.5 billion this year. It would raise the total $48 billion state tax yield of 1970 by 15 per cent, a hefty one-year hike by any measure.

Not all states are boosting taxes this year. Governor Ronald Reagan of California, for one, put in the biggest budget in the state's history but trimmed services to make it balance without a tax rise. Three states—Alaska, Illinois and Mississippi—are trying to cut taxes.

The state tax picture was reported by the Tax Foundation, a non-profit, non-partisan organization that is a watchdog of taxes around the country. Personal income taxes, corporate taxes, sales taxes and tobacco taxes were chief proposals to raise new money. Minnesota's proposed boost in its cigarette tax, from 12 cents to a 21 cents a pack, seemed to have the additional aim of pricing cigarettes out of reach of the ordinary smoker.

The foundation listed these proposed tax boosts: Pennsylvania $1.57 billion, New York $1.114 billion, Ohio $500 million, Michigan $375 to $475 million, Connecticut $400 million, Minnesota $400 million, Texas $325 million, Massachusetts $311 million, Iowa $230 million, Georgia $128 million, Rhode Island $101.6 million, Oklahoma $82.7 million.

These legislatures are not waiting for federal revenue sharing to rescue them, nor are they looking for ways of reducing their expenses to fit their income. Too bad, for taxpayers are looking for the governor and legislature to give them a break and hold or cut taxes to help them combat inflation. That seems to be too much to expect of our elected representatives.

Seek Jobs for Viet Vets

Now in the midst of the largest demobilization since the end of World War II, the United States armed forces are dismissing double the number they were five years ago. They are returning by the hundreds of thousands to look for jobs. Many had gone into the army directly from high school and had not previously worked, and are creating a 300,000 unemployment roll.

The entire roster of Vietnam veterans number 4.5 million, so that the percentage of those unemployed is only 6.6 per cent. But as the administration aims to see each Vet reemployed, its Jobs for Veterans program has gone into high gear.

James F. Oates Jr., chairman of the program, speaking to an American Legion convention in Washington this week, said that 900,000 employers have been contacted, and that "many thousands of employers have responded with promises of adding veterans to their work forces or providing training—or both." Oates is setting up his Jobs for Veterans program in every city with 10,000 or more, and has asked Legionnaires to establish and join Veterans' task forces to find jobs.

All well and good. But it is up to every individual employer to see that he employs a Vet or Vets, without prejudice, if at all possible. If we cannot do this much for our men who fought for us, we don't deserve their defense of us.

David Lawrence Says Nixon Will Use Selective Approach for Controls

WASHINGTON — The administration has at last determined on a policy that might be called a selective system of wage and price control. Congress is expected to extend for two years the existing authority on controls which it gave the President in 1970. This will permit Mr. Nixon to avoid over-all controls and will enable him to impose a wage and price freeze in those industries which he thinks are hurting his fight against inflation.

The President came to the conclusion that such extended legislation was needed after a prolonged effort to persuade the construction industry and unions to deal realistically with the wage and price situation. He finally decided that it would be necessary for him to have the authority for an additional two years to induce management and labor unions generally to exercise restraint.

Meanwhile, the President suspended requirements under another law that union wage rates be paid in constructing federal buildings. Nearly 25 billion-dollars worth of projects will be affected the first year.

In World War I and World War II as well as during the Korean War, the federal government was authorized by Congress to impose wage and price controls on all kinds of businesses. But the plan had many disadvantages. President Nixon, aware of the difficulties, has determined to use a selective approach so that he can single out particular industries for parleys and, if unsuccessful, impose wage and price controls.

It is expected that this legislation would mean that union desires for increases in wages would be carefully considered before new scales are actually put into effect. Certainly for the next two years there would not be the high wage increases that have been obtained in the past by some unions. A moratorium on labor stoppages would be effective for two years with only minor changes in labor contracts. Prices would also be stabilized.

The legislation sought by the administration would give the President authority to establish mandatory control over prices and wages at levels not less than those prevailing on May 25, 1970. If the law is passed, it would extend controls for two years — from March 31 this year until March 31, 1973. Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally was careful to mention that, except in the event of a national emergency, there is no intention of establishing complete controls "without a further specific mandate from Congress."

Some idea of the administration's concern for the future is given in a comment by Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson to the Senate manpower subcommittee in his testimony on Tuesday. He said that the target of the Nixon administration is to reduce unemployment by more than a million over the next 18 months. This is being interpreted to mean that the administration expects to be confronted with 4.4 million jobless as far along as August 1972, and that the recovery program may not be as widely successful as had been hoped.

There are many debates going on as to just how federal revenue shall be spent to take care of unemployment. The administration says it doesn't wish to support bills that would cost millions of dollars merely to hire unemployed for public-service jobs. A feeling exists that study should be given to the encouragement of job creation which would be of a more permanent nature.

The administration is convinced that across the board controls would be injurious to the economy, and that a network of wage and price regimentation would retard rather than stimulate the operations of business.

Secretary Connally told the House Banking Committee that an overall control system would require "an enormous bureaucracy" and that this would not have the support of the people. He does think the public wants the extreme cases of wage and price controversies to be adjusted by the government so that inflation will not be intensified.

Many economists wish that the administration had taken this position and intervened in the labor management situation at least a year ago. They believe that the strikes and threats of work stoppages which have produced unemployment and helped to disrupt business conditions in 1970 and 1971 could have been prevented. But the feeling today is "better late than never."

Democrats Are Considering Stratton for Governor

By CHARLES DUMAS
 ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — After four stinging defeats with New York City — based candidates, Democratic party leaders finally are beginning to look upstate for a potential winning candidate for governor.

And the man they're considering, rather seriously, is U.S. Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Amsterdam. By no means is Stratton a "new face" in the gubernatorial derby. He has tried before for the nomination, and once for a U.S. Senate nomination, but was brushed aside by the big-city bosses.

The argument against him then was that an upstate Democrat simply could not win, because he would have little or no appeal in vote-rich New York City.

Ironically, the man whom Stratton can thank for his recent re-thinking of that philosophy is a fellow upstate who also failed to win his party's nomination — millionaire industrialist Howard J. Samuels of Canandaigua.

Samuels got the same brush-off as Stratton, three times. But last year, he didn't have to take the bosses' "no" for a final answer. He ran in the gubernatorial primary, the first held under the new law, and he came so close to beating the famous Arthur J. Goldberg that party leaders had to question their own prejudices.

for his seventh term in Congress.

Because of reapportionment, Stratton had been thrown into the same district with Republican Rep. Daniel Button — thus creating the only head-to-head match between congressional incumbents in the nation. It was supposed to be a close contest, but Stratton whipped Button by a 2-to-1 margin.

Stratton's triumph was especially satisfying because it added spectacularly to a growing legend of his invincibility at the polls — in territory that Republicans are supposed to win.

He won his first term in 1958 in a Schenectady — area district regarded as safely Republican. When he repeated his victory with increased pluralities in 1960, the GOP-controlled legislature reapportioned him into a new district considered impregnable Republican. It encompassed eight small counties stretching across Central New York in a shape so peculiar that it was dubbed the "submarine" district.

But Stratton won again, and again and again. So, last year, the Republicans redistricted him a second time, assuming Button would finish him off. Not by a long shot.

The essence of Stratton's success is that he is a campaign manager's dream. Tall, slim and handsome at the age of 54, he is a tireless performer who works at his job seven days a week and campaigns for reelection year-round every year.

A former radio-TV newscaster, he is completely at home on the airwaves and is a polished public speaker who projects what his admirers claim is the distinct charisma of a winner. He caters ceaselessly to the request of his electorate, both individually and as a group — so much so that his critics say he tailors his philosophy to whatever he believes might be popular with the people he is representing at the moment.

Whatever the ingredients to Stratton's formula, it's surely a winning one. And a winner is what the Democratic party has not had in a long time.

Since his re-election, Stratton has been making the distinct noises of a gubernatorial hopeful, encouraging every attention in that direction and speaking out at every opportunity against Rockefeller's performance.

Last week, Stratton supporters staged a victory dinner in Albany and nearly 500 people turned out. Among the guests were such Democratic notables as U.S. Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, a former national chairman, and Assembly Minority Leader Stanley Steingut, the powerful Brooklyn boss.

The dinner turned out to be a Stratton-for-Governor rally, and Jackson and Steingut both spoke warmly of the prospect. Steingut's remarks were the most illuminating.

"If Sam is nominated for governor, I'll be delighted," he said, "because New York City is sick and tired of losing."

Elaborating to a reporter a few days later, Steingut noted that Stratton has run at one time or another in 12 counties and had carried all of them. "He's winning all over the state already," Steingut said, "and that's what we need — a winner."

Jack Anderson Says Secret Study Bares Huge Profits of Munition Makers

WASHINGTON — Warfare, according to a confidential "Defense Industry Profit Study," is a lucrative business. Behind the soldier stands the supplier, behind the patriot the profiteer.

When Julius Caesar invaded Gaul, it cost only 50 cents to kill an enemy. Yet the Roman contractors who supplied the swords, shields, spears and provisions raked in the riches.

Today it costs $110,000 for every enemy laid low. The giant corporations, which supply the instruments of destruction, pile up enormous profits measured in the millions.

Defense contractors have fudged their figures to show earnings on equity investment of only 13.8 per cent for small firms and 28.4 per cent for big companies. But government accountants, after painstaking examinations of 140 contracts, found the real rate of return on equity investment to be 56.1 per cent.

The contractors' reports, invariably, claimed that profits were far lower than the accountants found them to be. The damning details are contained in a 39-page study which, at this stage, is intended for official eyes only.

"This document is a draft of a proposed report of the General Accounting Office," warns a cover sheet. "It is... being made available solely to those having responsibilities concerning the subjects discussed.... Recipients of this draft must not show or release its contents under any circumstances."

The study was slipped to us, however, by an insider who feared the defense industry was bringing pressure to suppress or, at least, to tone down the findings. In an earlier column, we published some of the highlights. Here are additional details:

The GAO found that "progress payments," which a benevolent Pentagon grants to contractors before their work is completed, boosts profits by an average 20 per cent.

The GAO's accountants discovered one manufacturer who was producing the same item for the government under two different contracts. On one, he got progress payments, and his profits were almost 50 per cent. On the other contract, no progress payments were made, and his profits were 27.5 per cent.

Bribing the Brass

One reason for exorbitant defense profits is the practice of the contractors to provide cushy jobs for retired generals and admirals. Officer after officer has jumped into the outstretched arms of corporations having contracts with the government. This has come perilously close, in some instances, to outright bribery.

Another advantage the Pentagon has given arbitrarily to many big companies is the use of government-owned tools and plants. These government plants, which belong to the taxpayers, are made available to contractors on the most favorable terms.

Where big contractors are concerned, there's also little competitive bidding. Sometimes bids have been taken, then afterward pampered contractors have been allowed to match the low bids of competitors.

"Under present policies," states the confidential study, "the profits being negotiated for contracts where there is a no effective price competition are based upon a percentage of the estimated costs involved."

"As a result, contractors have no incentive to invest in more modern equipment to increase efficiency and reduce costs. Investments tend to lower rather than increase profits in the long run. Thus, contractors have a strong incentive to minimize their investments."

The GAO urges no less than a complete change in the system.

Ladies Twit Hunters

A ladies' lobby, which questioned the manhood of deer hunters, has provoked enraged howls from the firearms lobby.

The battle of the lobbies began when the Friends of Animals, led by nine famous and beautiful women, protested turning deer hunters loose in New Jersey's Great Swamp National Wildlife Refuge to reduce the herd.

The lovely ladies, including Lauren Bacall, Ali MacGraw, Patricia Mursel and June Havoc, accused the hunters of slaughtering deer to prove their virility because they fail "on better proving grounds (like) a boudoir."

"We're not turned on by a show of masculinity which takes place in the forest through maiming or, occasionally, killing helpless animals," mocked the ladies in handbills. "Hunters, make it dear, not deer. Will you? Won't you? Can't you?"

Cut to the quick, the Firearms Lobby of America issued its own handbills assailing the "female show business personalities." These audacious females had compared "Hunters to the infamous perverted Marquis de Sade," whined the firearms lobby.

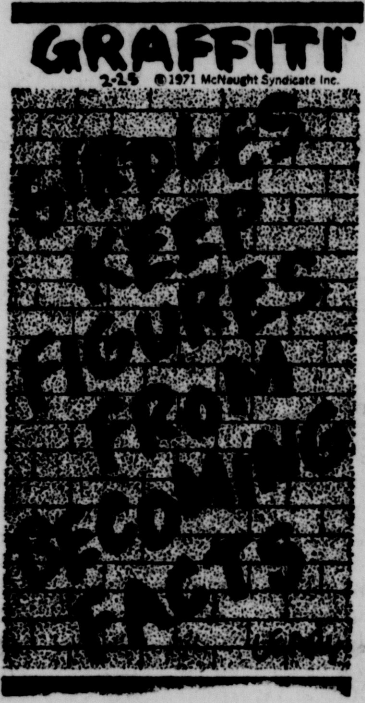

The gals' plea that hunters prove their "virility (in) a boudoir," instead of by killing deer, was branded as "the most diabolical (scheme) of all." The firearms fighters called for contributions to do battle against the ladies' ideas, not in the field nor the bedrooms, but in the courts.

Too Many Chiefs

In a "Dear Mel" letter to Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, Rep. Bob Sikes, D-Fla., a power on the House Military Appropriations Subcommittee, has protested the Pentagon's personnel policy. The first to be laid off, invariably, are able young employees while older deadheads are kept on the payroll.

"The result is a higher priced organization and a low morale in the junior ranks," wrote Sikes. "You are getting close to the point where you have all chiefs and no Indians."

The Congressman got back a bland, unresponsive letter from a Pentagon subordinate suggesting that Sikes support legislation to permit older employees to retire earlier and to reduce the mandatory retirement age.

Henry J. Taylor Says U.S. Nuclear Superiority Vital

Working secretly and rising it from Vichinours in south Japan, the Japanese have put up a four-state outer-space rocket. The spherical fourth stage went into orbit. Japan failed four times since 1966 to put a satellite into orbit. And this success makes Japan the fifth country — the others are the U.S., U.S.S.R., France and Red China — to do this on its own.

Western Europe has gone off on another tack. Tying in the NATO countries' capabilities, its space rocket is a conglomerate nearly beyond belief. This is called the Europa.

The Europa combines a British first stage, French second booster, German third booster, Italian satellite-content cargo and Belgian and Dutch components. And London, Paris, Bonn, Rome, Brussels and The Hague are as full of doubting Thomases about it as a baseball crowd is full of popcorn.

France frowned upon and balked against her own contribution to the Europa. In fact, France has quietly cut her 1971 contribution to the European Space Research Organization to only $4 million. You can realize that that means when just the Ranger's pre-landing lunar photographs alone cost $270 million.

After eight years of preparation France exploded its first H-bomb over the Mururoa atoll in the Pacific August 24, 1968. This made France the fifth nation to enter the H-bomb list since we perfected and exploded an H-bomb in 1952. But now, under cover, France is asking us to share the cost and facilities of her Pacific and French Guiana space-launching installations.

Meanwhile, our Joint Chiefs of Staff officially estimate that soon there will be 10 nuclear powers (including Israel) and by 1975, within four years, 15 or 20. It seems like trying to turn back Niagara.

The stymied Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) began November 17, 1969. After they adjourned in Helsinki last December 18, not even to resume until March 15 in Vienna. President Nixon sent Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird abroad to again press NATO to strengthen its lagging conventional forces. Just the Warsaw Pact forces alone now confronting NATO have a million more troops and three times the air force of NATO.

NATO's foreign and defense ministers privately promised Mr. Laird substantial increases. But they still show no more signs than ever of living up to these time-worn promises. Read former Secretary of State Dean Acheson's excellent book, "Present at the Creation," and you see how old and taxing on us these broken NATO promises are.

Timely Quotes

There will be no communications gap. There will be a communications yap, because we'll do a lot of talking.

—Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., incoming chairman of the Armed Services Committee, on his relationship with Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

Thank God for the generation gap. Without it we would have no progress. These generations are the building blocks of the future, one generation building upon the foundations of the other. Civilization has evolved because of the generation gap.

—Miriam Battle, a Cleveland, Ohio, community relations expert.

He's supposed to be retired, but mostly it's his salary that's retired.

—Mrs. Charles Richter, wife of the seismologist who devised the Richter scale for measuring earthquake intensities.

Nobody is going to be allowed to drag us into the Communist system by using our own democratic processes.

—Premier Suleyman Demirel of Turkey, introducing legislation to curb student anarchists.

Washington spends more annually on research and development, much of it on nuclear matters, than our Federal government spent in the total years of our history to and through World War II. And all Western Europe lives only under our retaliatory atomic striking force's protective umbrella. Except for this umbrella, Western Europe could well have been occupied by the Russians long ago.

Our nuclear stockpile in Europe was established in 1957. By 1965 it has expanded 45 per cent. A NATO leak I confirmed in Brussels reveals about 7,000 U.S. nuclear warheads now are deployed in NATO countries. Around 400 have an average yield of 20 kilotons compared to the 20-kiloton Hiroshima bomb. And all are under the control of specialized U.S. military units.

But — and this is the vital point today — the NATO countries and our country alike rely not on our ability to win a nuclear war but on our ability to deter it.

This requires such overwhelming U.S. nuclear superiority that no enemy dare launch a first strike. We had such a force. It kept the nuclear truce for two decades. But when former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara in his colossal mistake allowed the Soviet to achieve nuclear parity as a bait for peace, the U.S. umbrella concept vanished. And President Nixon gradually has grown deeply suspicious of the Soviet foot-dragging at the SALT talks for 16 months.

The first priority in our national life is our national survival. This means not through retaliation after our country is mainly destroyed but by the Soviet's recognition of our overwhelming deterrent force.

We must recover this. President Nixon has secretly ordered an immediate study dedicated to that recovery. For, behind the scenes, Mr. Nixon has become convinced time is running out rapidly in this absolutely vital opportunity.

Ex-Czech Prisoner in Rochester

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UPI)—Fred Eidlin, who was released without explanation from a Czechoslovakian prison, arrived home in Rochester Wednesday night, tired but looking fit.

The former Radio Free Europe writer, arrived at about 10:30 p.m. at Rochester-Monroe County Airport.

He was greeted by his father Ephraim, Rep. Frank Horton, R-Rochester and friends earlier Wednesday on his arrival at Kennedy Airport in New York City.

Eidlin, who holds a fellowship from the University of Toronto, had spent seven months of a four-year term in a Prague prison on a charge of subversion and was ordered expelled from the country.

"I think that the fact of my expulsion was entirely due to the efforts of our government, through the embassy in Prague, the state department, congressman Horton and several of his colleagues in Congress," Eidlin said. "They (the Czechs) believed I was recruiting spies for Radio Free Europe," he said. He la-

Stolen Safe Found, Contents Are Missing

KINGSTON—A safe stolen during a burglary at the Ambrose Brothers Luncheonette and confectionery store at 364 Broadway last month, was recovered Tuesday by detectives off West O'Reilly Street near the Penn Central Railroad trestle.

Lieutenant Charles McCullough said the safe had been ripped open and its contents, including an undetermined amount of cash, is missing. The safe had been carted away after the business establishment was entered through a back door on the night of Jan. 26.

Free Europe," he said. He la-beled the charge as "utterly false."

Eidlin said there was some "fantastic" testimony during his trial which tied him to subversive acts against the Czech government.

"I think we can be grateful that we have a great deal more legal security in our country than the Czechoslovakians do," he said.

The 28-year-old doctoral student said he was tired and "immediate plans are to get some rest and then go back to school."

He said that as a condition of his employment by RFE he had to sign an agreement that he would not travel to any East-ern bloc country. However, he said he was not the first RFE employee to visit Communist na-tions after leaving the anti-Communist organization.

Eidlin was arrested last July while vacationing in Europe.

Henry Dunbar Dies on Coast, Naturalist and Educator

LOMONTVILLE—Henry F. Dunbar, 80, of Lomontville, a well-known Ulster County naturalist, died Monday in Santa Barbara, Calif.

Dunbar was born in Brookline, Mass., the son of James R. and Harriet Walton Dunbar. He attended Brookline High School, was graduated from Harvard College and received his Master's Degree from Columbia University.

Dunbar joined the faculty at Kingston High School in 1916 and was a teacher and vocational guidance counselor there until his retirement in 1945.

Possessing a great interest in natural history, Dunbar was a member of the John Burroughs' Natural History Society and was instrumental in founding the Society's Ulster County chapter. He was also a member of the National Audubon Society, the Eastern New York Botanical Club and the New England Botanical Club. He had presented many illustrated lectures before local clubs and organizations in Ulster County.

Since his retirement from Kingston High School, Dunbar had studied natural history, traveled extensively and had taken many pictures for later display.

Dunbar is survived by his sister, Ruth Tolman; four daughters, Mrs. Elmer (Violet) Donaldson of Branchport, N.Y.; Miss Alice W. Dunbar of Lomontville, Mrs. Ralph (Eva) Baily of Nacogdoches, Tex. and

Vietnam Most Anguishing Problem...

Nixon described mainland China as "one of the major powers" and said the United States is ready to see it "play a constructive role in the family of nations."

But, he went on, the United States would not agree to the Peking government entering the United Nations at the cost of Nationalist regime on Formosa being ousted.

Nixon also said there is no U.S. advantage from Soviet-Chinese hostility. "We will do nothing to sharpen that conflict

Eastern Europe

Nixon said he will ask Congress soon to authorize government guarantees for U.S. investments going into Romania and Yugoslavia. Guarantees against foreign investment risks are standard U.S. practice for many other countries.

Nixon implicitly recognized Russia's primary security interest in Eastern Europe and offered the Soviets assurance on that point. Eastern European countries have historical ties to the West, he said, but "We will not exploit those ties to undermine the security of the Soviet Union."

Western Europe

Implying that Russia could try to split NATO by negotiating with separate members on improving relations, Nixon called on the allies to harmonize their policies on all East-West negotiating issues. He also said progress on issues arising out of the division of Germany is basic to easing tensions in Europe.

Economic Policy

Nixon said "a continued liberal trade policy is indispensable to our domestic economic health and to a successful U.S. foreign policy."

He called on the European allies and Japan to reduce their own trade restrictions, saying that they cannot afford to take liberal trade practices in the United States for granted.

In his discussion of Indochina, the President touched on the military situation. He declared that in spite of heavy losses the North Vietnamese still pose a "considerable threat" to the first and second (the Northern) military regions of South Vietnam.

Alternatively, the North Vietnamese forces step up pressure against the Cambodian government—or, presumably, they could work into expanded operations in Laos. Nixon said that in Cambodia and Laos Hanoi has two aims:

"First, and primarily, to use them as infiltration routes, staging bases, and sanctuaries for attacks against South Vietnam. Secondly, to erode governmental controls in order to aid their efforts in South Vietnam and perhaps take over Laos and Cambodia themselves."

However, Nixon expressed confidence that even without help from American ground combat troops, Laos and Cambodia can withstand efforts to destroy them.

Girl Injured In Paltz Crash

NEW PALTZ—An 18-year-old Long Island girl was slightly injured at 9 p.m. Wednesday when the car in which she was riding was in collision with another vehicle on Route 299 near this village.

Highland State Trooper R. L. Monroe reported Richard Mansfield, 18, of Tillson, was exiting in his car from a shopping plaza lot when the vehicle was in collision with a car operated by Edward Lillis Jr., 27, of 58 South Clinton Street, Poughkeepsie. Lillis said he did not see the other car until it was too late to avoid the collision.

Lois Albrecht of 20 Roosevelt Avenue, Freeport, a passenger in the Mansfield car, received injuries of her right side, troopers said.

Five Inmates Plead Innocent in Court

AUBURN, N.Y. (UPI)—Five of the "Auburn Six" prison inmates were arraigned without incident Wednesday on assault and robbery charges stemming from the Nov. 4 riot at the Auburn prison. The five pleaded innocent.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market opened higher in heavy turnover today. Despite a healthy gain Wednesday, many analysts believed the next move for the market will be lower. The Dow finished up 5.62 at 875.62 Wednesday.

Shortly after the opening today, the Dow Jones industrial average was ahead 0.27 at 875.89.

Quotations by Hornblower and Weeks, Hemphill, Noyes, members of the New York Stock Exchange. Kingston representatives, Paul Coon and Theodore Peck, 15 Market Street, Poughkeepsie, phone 451-5011.

while the arraignment for the sixth, Earl Moody, 25, of New York City was postponed to March 10 because he has not obtained a lawyer.

There was no repetition of the scuffling and name-calling which broke out at two previous hearings, when the inmates claimed their lives were in danger at the prison.

About 100 demonstrators, mostly students from Cornell University, picketed the Cayuga County Courthouse, chanting slogans and demanding an end to alleged mistreatment at the prison.

They carried such signs as "Stop the Frame-up of the Auburn Six" and "Prisons are Concentration Camps for the Poor."

Police set up barricades along the curb to allow room for marching. County Judge Gerald Saper-stein set March 31 for motions, with a tentative trial date of May 24.

He rejected the defendants' request to be transferred to another prison, noting there was a similar motion now pending in federal court at Utica.

All six prisoners were shackled and handcuffed when brought into court. Saperstein allowed the bindings to be removed except for those on Robert Clark, 24, and Charles Hill, 21, who had to be forcibly removed from the courtroom at previous appearances.

The six are charged in the incident in which several hundred prisoners took over three cellblocks and held 35 guards hostage for several hours.

Since then, the state Assembly has named a five-man committee to investigate charges of mistreatment and poor conditions at the prison.

Paltz Artists Slate Shows

Artists-in-residence Jack and Graciela of State University College, New Paltz, will perform their all new show "It's All in Your Mime" at the college's McKenna Theater Feb. 26 at 8:30 p. m. and Feb. 27 and 28 at 2 p. m., according to Richard P. Brown, director of the theater.

According to Brown, it will be a return performance for the pantomime team, whose October appearance at the college was highly acclaimed.

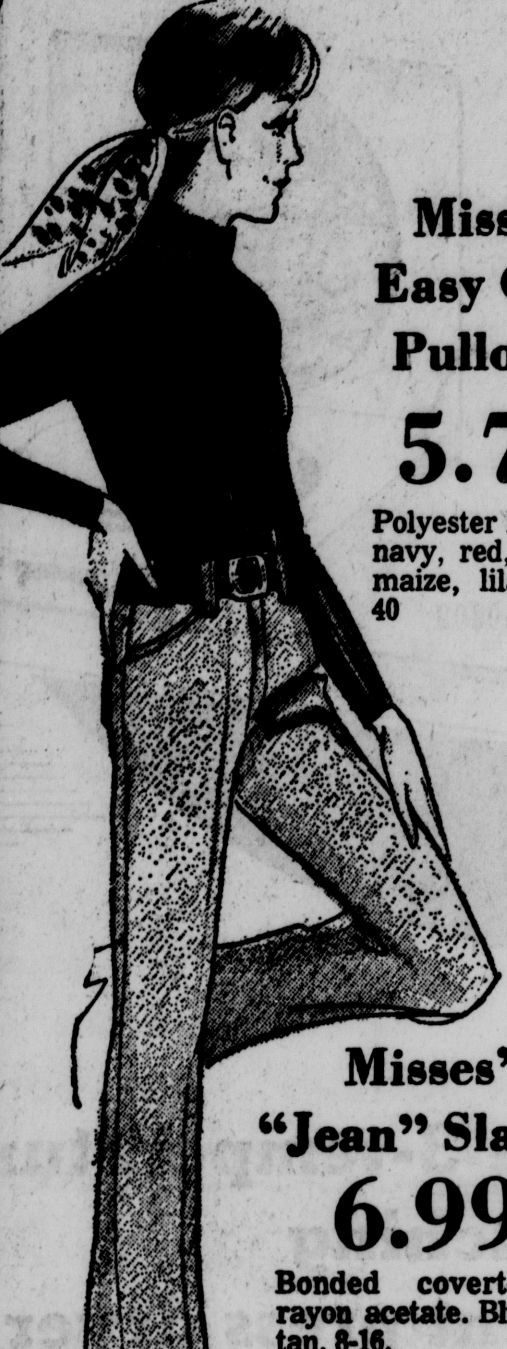

Jack Hill, originally from Rochester, got his early training with Solomon Yakim. While teaching at Brockport, he received a scholarship to study mime with Marcel Marceau, the acknowledged master of the art. He worked closely with Marceau on improvisation, and was featured with Marceau on NBC's First Tuesday coverage of the Paris school. Hill's wife, Graciela Binaghi, Linslade, 35 miles north of born in Buenos Aires, studied dance with several South American companies. After studying with Isaac Alvarez in France, she joined the mime school of Marceau and performed with the International Mime Company in Paris. It was there that she and Hill began performing together. Marceau has said the team is "absolutely gifted for the art of pantomime."

Information and reservations are available at the box office at McKenna Theater.

Bank Robber Paroled

LONDON (UPI)—Roger J. Cordrey, 48, who has served half of a 14-year sentence or conviction for taking part in the $7.3 million great train robbery in 1963, will be paroled soon from Doldingley Prison.

Cordrey was arrested a week after the Aug. 8, 1963 robbery of a Royal Mail train near Linslade, 35 miles north of London.

Amputees Now Golfers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Capt. Corbin Cherry lay in an Army hospital bed two years ago, his left leg sheared off nine inches below the knee by a land mine while serving as a chaplain in Vietnam.

A chaplain's first words to him were, "You're going to get depressed. But you'll get over it."

"He kept telling me I would be depressed, and he just made me mad," recalls Cherry.

Cherry adopted a positive attitude. He made the best of his handicap. And he got a chance to see what effect an optimistic chaplain would have on hospital patients.

He became one.

He's assigned to Letterman General Hospital, where many Vietnam wounded are taken.

"Come on, we're going out to play golf," the 30-year-old Methodist minister tells his patients, many of them amputees.

"I'll give it a try," responds a tall young man who never has held a golf club before and is taking up the game on one leg.

"That's all I want you to do," Cherry replies and hands him a five-iron.

On his second swing, he hits a ball about 80 yards straight down the middle and a buddy in a wheelchair yells, "Sandbagger!"

Another beginner, with both legs gone, grins after connecting from his wheelchair and sending a ball about 20 yards.

Golf isn't a formal part of the hospital's rehabilitation program, nor is it included in the chaplain's normal duties.

"But it sure makes a 60-hour work week seem short," says Cherry, the 1970 National Amputee Golf Association champion.

The chaplain was a one-handed golfer before going to Vietnam. He lost his leg when he stepped on a mine after rescuing two wounded soldiers from a battlefield.

His golf handicap is now five, but he says it hasn't gone up because of his physical handicap. He just can't play as often as he once did.

Interest in New Paltz Mayoral Race

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ, N.Y. — The 11th hour entrance of Charles B. (Carlos) Fernandez into the race for mayor of New Paltz has injected considerable interest into what was shaping up to be a very dull election. Fernandez' petition, filed at 4:20 p.m. Tuesday, the last day for filing, contained 103 signatures, 28 more than required by law.

In opposing long-time Mayor Henry DuBois, Fernandez is furnishing the only opposition in the elections. Trustees George Ackert, O. Lincoln Lgou and John Sherwig are running unopposed.

Fernandez says he is going to run "a serious campaign," and as proof he outlined a very broad and ambitious campaign platform.

He said he was a "conservationist," and he was seeking to challenge the village to make a choice. The choice he believes the village must make is between becoming a "bedroom community," with the

"taxes and problems of communities in southern New York," what he termed "plastic suburbia," or putting into effect the village slogan which calls the community "Historical, Cultural and Progressive" and preserving and enhancing the village's virtues.

As part of his plan for New Paltz, he is calling for arterial highways around both the village and the town to relieve Main Street of its traffic, and allow the creation of pedestrian malls and more attractive shopping areas. He would remove all neon signs, and bury all utilities on Main Street. The burial of utilities could be done while the streets were excavated to put in a new sewage system, as he said the present system was already inadequate.

He is against shopping centers, saying "While they help the tax base, they would destroy the village." Instead of building new shopping centers, he would build parks, what he called "public greens."

He felt that, as a graduate of State University College, New Paltz, he could aid the village police force and college students to come to a better understanding. He believed his contact with the youth of the community could aid in finding a solution to the villages drug problem. He knew people who had died from drug abuse, and said he was against the abuse of drugs.

He thought taxes too high on property, and particularly hard on senior citizens on fixed incomes; he would work for relief the public's interests, and better public transportation. He would like to see the village bar the use of detergents containing phosphates, and investigate the possibility of recycling the village's refuse. He said the cost of refuse collection was high in the village, while some communities actually make money from their refuse.

Fernandez' platform will call for immediate withdrawal from Vietnam. He said, in addition to the loss of lives, too much money and too many skills were

AMERICA'S LARGEST FAMILY CLOTHING CHAIN

Rhinebeck Gets Zoning Law

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK, N.Y. — The Town of Rhinebeck passed its Zoning Law Wednesday night, following the fifth public hearing and three years of intensive preparation.

In the same decisive manner the Board named seven members to the newly created Zoning Board of Appeals and appointed former Rhinebeck village mayor Robert Shackleton to the post of Chairman of the Planning Board, replacing Homer K. Staley.

Those voting in favor of Local Law Number One of 1971, the zoning law, were Supervisor William Allen, Justice DeWitt Gurnell, Justice Herman Tietjen, and Councilman Louis Wolfert abstained, saying the law was "against my better judgment."

Reasons given by Board members for their decision were, from Allen, "self-preservation" and the anticipation of considerable population growth; from Judge Gurnell, "Rhinebeck still has the reputation as the parlor of Dutchess County, and we want to keep it that way"; from Judge Tietjen, "I don't think any recent law has taken into account the collective feelings of people as much as this"; and Asher professed his belief that the law would be an asset.

Wolfert, in explaining his abstention, objected to such specifics as regulations governing setbacks for buildings and what he considered unrealistic road frontage requirements.

The seven members named to the Board of Appeals are: Chairman Arthur Carl, employed by IBM, Kingston. Edward Murphy, president of a building supplies firm in Irvington; Charles Beck, past president of Beck and Company of Kingston, now with the Dutchess County Committee On Economic Opportunity; Dorothy Stickles, a Rhinecliff "housewife"; Rocco Lagno, of IBM, Poughkeepsie; Daniel McLaughlin, of Bartles Tree Service; and Donald Rubsha, IBM, Poughkeepsie.

Newly appointed Planning Board Chairman Shackleton served as Rhinebeck mayor from 1964-1969, among other civic duties, and is a retired employe of Western Printing Company, Poughkeepsie. He is a partner in Moran Printing, Rhinebeck.

The town is also working with the village jointly to select a Zoning Enforcement Officer, a salaried job of $2,500 annually. The village will hold its final zoning hearing Tuesday.

The public hearing preceding Board action brought out several additional points which were new to the hearings. About 60 persons were present including officials, one of the smallest turnouts for any of the five public hearings.

Mrs. Charles Rider spoke against the decision to bypass the Planning Board on variance requests, going directly to the Board of Appeals. County Deputy Commissioner of Planning Kenneth Toole explained that the Planning Board still retains its functions of on-site approval and subdivisions, but that most variance requests are minor.

David Queen, village trustee and master of the Rhinebeck Grange, requested a change in designation from residential to business of the land on which the Grange stands between Closs Drive and Mill Street. The Grange has its land and building up for sale, with an interested business on the line.

Resident James Hawco said he agreed with relaxations on the mobile home section, but "I think it's terrible that we will have no low cost housing."

According to Hawco, the tax structure makes it difficult to allow for low-cost housing, and he said that a $25,000 house must pay $600 annually in school taxes alone. But he pointed out that the low-salaried personnel for the burgeoning nursing home industry in the town will have no place they can afford to live.

One question from the audience perhaps best summed up the puzzlement which beset many minds. "It seems to me that the original zoning proposal has been relaxed, both in cutting the acreage in half and relaxing mobile home restrictions. Why?"

Supervisor Allen explained that the predominance of public sentiment expressed at the hearings were the major cause, saying that many persons thought the original proposal too expensive for those just starting out and the elderly on fixed incomes.

While noting that others preferred the more dispersed population, Allen added, "I don't think that's the real world." Thus Rhinebeck is the fourth of the four Northern Dutchess towns to adopt a comprehensive zoning law within the past 16 months. Red Hook, Milan and the Clinton were the others.

Paltz Workshop On Drama Set For Saturday

NEW PALTZ

An all-day workshop titled How to Bring Drama into the English Classroom will be held at State University College, New Paltz, Saturday, Feb. 27.

The workshop will be conducted by Miss Floren Harper, who will discuss techniques that can be used to bring drama into the classroom.

Miss Harper will conduct demonstration classes in the college gym from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Films will be shown in the afternoon. There will be no charge for either the morning or afternoon sessions, but persons wishing to lunch at the college should contact the college office of the Mid-Hudson School Study Council, according to Dr. Sheila Schwartz, program chairman.

Geoffrey Summerfield, originally scheduled for the workshop, will be unable to attend because of commitments in Canada, according to Dennis J. Hannan, chairman of the language arts committee. Hannan emphasized that all interested teachers, students and public are invited.

Auxiliary of Ulster Hose Company No. 5 Announces Fund Raising Projects

FUND RAISING EVENT—Members of the Ladies Auxiliary of Ulster Hose Company No. 5 are sorting out their tastiest recipes in preparation for a special fund raising event set for Friday at the firehouse on Albany Avenue Extension

The Ladies Auxiliary of Ulster Hose Company No. 5 has announced that a series of fund raising projects are being planned, the first of which is a food sale to be held Friday from 5 to 7 p.m. in the firehouse on Albany Avenue extension. Chairman of the event is Mrs. Floyd Gilbert with Mrs. John Dankovich assisting. Proceeds will be used in the renovation of the firehouse kitchen.

It was also announced by Mrs. LeRoy Thomas Jr., chairman of the rummage sale, that the event will be held in the firehouse on May 5 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Anyone wishing to donate articles may do so by contacting Mrs. Thomas, Carle Terrace or Mrs. Albert Klimchusky, First Avenue.

Mrs. William Nyulassy reported that the date of the Firemen's Annual Banquet has been changed to March 27, Flamingo Restaurant, Route 9-W, Barclay Heights at 7 p.m. Any member or friends wishing to attend may obtain further information by contacting Ben Gulnick, chairman, or Terry Woodvine, president of the firemen.

It was suggested that the Ladies Auxiliary serve refreshments to the Senior Citizens of the Town of Ulster at one of their monthly meetings. Mrs. Joseph Senor will provide further information. Also, Mrs. John Gotelli is checking on a month that the Auxiliary may send cakes, or gifts to patients at the Ulster County Infirmary.

Plans are now being formulated for a loan closet to be sponsored by the Auxiliary. The purpose of this project is to provide crutches, walkers or canes, free of charge to the community. Anyone having any of these articles that are no longer in use and would like to donate them to the Auxiliary for this purpose may do so by contacting Mrs. Gilbert, Wrentham St., chairman.

The Auxiliary will once again sponsor its annual Scholarship Award to be given to a graduating girl from this district to further her education. Miss Marguerite Meyers will contact the high school as to the date of the assembly awards and the selection of the girls who would be eligible from this district.

Miss Peggy Thomas, Lake Katrine and Mrs. Joseph Misasi, Sunrise Park are two new members who were accepted into the Ladies Auxiliary. Anyone else wishing to join will be welcome.

Mrs. Stanley Van Kleeck took over as secretary for the evening for Miss Meyers, who is vacationing in Florida for two weeks. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Orville from 5 to 7 p.m. Making final preparations are Mrs. Floyd Gilbert (C) chairman of the event, assisted by Mrs. John Dankovich (L) and Miss Peggy Thomas, new member. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Klumps and Mrs. Nyulassy. Refreshment bonus was won by Mrs. James Barry.

The next regular monthly meeting of the Ladies

Auxiliary of Ulster Hose Co. No. 5 will be held March 11 at 8 p.m. at the firehouse. All members are urged to attend.

Helpful Hints

Run cool water over cold glasses before washing them in hot suds. This tempers the glass to prevent cracking from a sudden change in temperature.

After a party, drop tid-bit picks into a strainer and dip into hot soap or detergent suds. Swish back and forth, rinse, and dry. This prevents losing elusive small pieces.

Chances are the bathroom scale collects its weight of dust and grime. Therefore, wipe occasionally with a sudsy sponge for sparkling reading!

LEGAL NOTICES

Hudson Valley Water Cos., Inc. has filed for a rate adjustment with the New York Public Service Commission as follows:

1st 9,000 gallons presently $13.25 minimum quarterly, changed to $17.00 minimum quarterly.

All other rates, terms and conditions to remain the same.

The effective date of this change shall be April 1, 1971.

NOTICE OF CHANGE IN PURCHASED GAS ADJUSTMENT
On February 19, 1971, Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation filed with the Public Service Commission of the State of New York Statement No. 2 to rate schedule P.S.C. ## Guest Artist Is Announced

Dorothy A. Narel, director of The Freeman's 1971 Fashion Preview, has announced that Mrs. Donald (Judy) MacIsaac will appear as guest pianist for the upcoming production on Tuesday, March 16.

The lovely Mrs. MacIsaac, who represented the State of Massachusetts in the 1955 Miss America Pageant, has continued her musical studies since the contest making several guest appearances as concert pianist in Massachusetts and with several chamber groups in Woodstock and the immediate area. A member and past officer of the Musical Society of Kingston, she has been an active performer both as soloist and accompanist.

For the March 16 fashion show, Mrs. MacIsaac will play Addinsell's well known "Warsaw Concerto."

Mrs. MacIsaac resides with her husband and three children on Forest Hill Drive in Kingston. The former Judith Drake, she is a graduate of Boston College and St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing. As a music student she studied with Gladys Baker of Boston and Jacqueline Marcault. The MacIsaac family has resided in the Kingston area for the past 13 years.

Active in church and civic programs, Mrs. MacIsaac holds many honorary titles and has served as a leading model in Boston, Albany and Kingston including the Freeman show. She has served as a fashion commentator for many local shows including the Miss Ulster County Pageants. Her talent and experience has qualified her to judge several pageants in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New York.

Mrs. MacIsaac is a member of St. Joseph's parish and is active in St. Joseph's P.T.A. From all indications The Freeman's third annual fashion show will be a complete sell-out once again. Approximately 33 stores will be participating in one of the largest fashion shows given in the area. More than 52 awards will be given away including a complimentary room for two at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge and dinner for two at The Capri 400 in Port Ewen. Other gifts include a blender, comforter, perfumes of all types, lipsticks, clock radio, silver Revere bowl, accent carpet, champagne, placemat sets, auto safety kits, cookbooks, love cup, and several Azure kits.

Every type of clothing for all sizes and ages will be shown including a first — a complete segment on men's fashions. Even men's formals will be added to this year's show.

Several interesting surprises will add gaiety to the show which will also commemorate The Freeman's 100th anniversary.

Assisting Mrs. Narel with arrangements is Joan L. Woinski. Diane Norton is taking all ticket reservations.

Don't be disappointed this year. Get your checks in early. Tickets are almost SOLD OUT.

JUDY MacISAAC, former Miss America contestant, at the keyboard. She will appear as guest artist for the upcoming 1971 Fashion Preview on Tuesday, March 16 in the J. Watson Bailey School. The third annual show sponsored by the Woman's Department of The Daily Freeman is given for the benefit of the Ulster County Community Chest. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Concert Scheduled At Holy Cross Church

The final concert of the Winter Chamber Music series of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic will take place in Kingston on Saturday, March 6 at 8:30 p.m. The Montoux Quartet will present a concert of baroque music at the Church of the Holy Cross on Pine Grove Avenue.

The Montoux Quartet consists of outstanding members of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic: Claude Montoux, music director of the orchestra, is an internationally acclaimed flutist. Marianne Montoux, his wife, is also well-known for her flute performances with her husband. Kenneth Fricker, the orchestra's manager and principal double-bassist, and Sylvia Suzousky, harpsichordist for the orchestra, will also be performing.

The quartet was formed three years ago and has become an integral part of the Hudson Valley's musical life, through its concerts both during the winter and summer series. In December, 1969, the group played an outstanding concert in New York. The program included the premiere performance of a work written for them by Richard Wilson, Associate Professor of Music at Vassar College.

The program for the March 6 concert will include Tre Canzoni a due Cante, the work of an early baroque composer, Frescobaldi. Sonata in G Major by Fux, and Chaconne and Tambourin by LeClair. The same program will be performed on March 19 and 20 at a dinner concert in Poughkeepsie at Vassar College.

World Prayer Day Friday, Mar. 5th

Christian Service of the Roundout Valley United Methodist Church, Stone Ridge, invites women from the other Protestant and Catholic churches of the area to join with them in a worship service on the World Day of Prayer, Friday, March 5, at 7:30 at the church.

In this 84th year of celebrating World Day of Prayer, women in the United States will be uniting with women in 155 other countries around the world to affirm faith, hope, and love in facing issues and needs of today and tomorrow.

The offering from this service will be used for a variety of mission projects both here and overseas. Mrs. Arnold Jones, chairman of this event, expressed the hope that a large number of area women would be present to participate in this meaningful service.

Water Color Class Slated at YWCA

The YWCA will offer a class in Water Color Painting: Basic Techniques and Concepts. The course will be devoted to step by step approach to problems of painting in water colors. This approach to problems of painting because it will grow out of a knowledge of the medium itself. Emphasis will be placed on the following: Composition — or arrangement of objects to create the space of the picture; Values — arrangement of dark and light areas into an effective pattern; Color — with an emphasis on color mixing to create form and overall color harmonies in the picture; and Uses and relationships of wash and dry brush techniques. Materials, including paint, brushes, and paper must be purchased by the student. Enrollment is limited to 10. The class will start March 4, and run for six weeks. Instruction is offered by Mrs. Jane Nerolini. The class starts at 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m.

Beginner Bridge is again being offered at the YWCA. The class will start Tuesday, March 2 from 1 to 3. The class is taught by Mrs. Linda Cavin and will run, for six weeks.

MR. AND MRS. ## Delegates Attend Convention Of Medical Society Auxiliary

Mrs. Frederic Holcomb Jr., Kingston, and Mrs. Robert B. Taylor, New Paltz, were delegates from Ulster County to the 33rd annual Convention of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Medical Society of the State of New York held at the Americana Hotel, New York City from February 14-17.

The four day meeting featured County Presidents' reports and projects dealing with Community and International Health, Children and Youth, Home Centered Health Care, Health Careers, Mental Health and Safety Disaster Preparedness. Mrs. Taylor, Ulster County president, presented an oral report on the support given to the Ulster County Blood Bank and the Ulster County Homemaker Service, Inc.

The state-wide theme announced for 1971-72 is "Make the Voice of Your Auxiliary Heard". Mrs. R.C.L. Robertson of Texas, national president of the Woman's Medical Association, addressed the delegates stating that the primary goal of auxiliaries is "service — to work for the good health of the community."

The Ulster County Auxiliary has planned a visit to the Children's Home and the Children's Rehabilitation Center today. The purpose of the visits is to give members an opportunity to learn of the services offered and to find out what volunteer help is needed. Anyone who wishes to participate in this activity may call Mrs. William Feldman in Kingston for further details.

KHS Cagers Hoping for Super Win Friday

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON
"It would be as if we were walking on water! The greatest thing that could ever happen, for the team, for me, the school, our fans, everybody in Kingston! It would be greater than the Jets winning the Super Bowl! It would be like winning a million-dollar lottery!"

That exuberant reply came from Kingston High School Coach Mike Rienzo, when we asked him what it might be like, if the KHS cagers scored an upset victory over the powerful Goldbacks of Newburgh Free Academy.

The Maroons face NFA in the final game of the regular season Friday night at the Kate Walton Field House. Newburgh is ranked third in the State and is 14-0 on the season. The Junior Varsity game will begin at 6:30 p.m. with the varsity tilt following. The box office at the Field House will open at 6 p.m. and a limited supply of tickets will be on hand.

Kingston is now 13-4 on the season and have posted the best record for the school since the 1967-68 season, when the Maroons, under the direction of Jack Gilligan, had an 18-2 mark overall.

"A victory over Newburgh would be a success story in itself," said Rienzo. "Our boys are young and have played well all year. I can think of two or three of our losses that could have gone either way. Maybe experience was the difference in those games, especially the two losses to Poughkeepsie."

Rienzo continued: "The season has gone pretty much the way I expected. We have done a complete turn-around on last year's record and the boys deserve all the credit. We have teamwork and good balance. Tony Adams, Chuck Jackson, Vito Platts and Ron Burris have played well for us. Herman Simon has also been outstanding, when we have had him available. We have bench strength, something we didn't have last year."

Burris and Platts are juniors and Adams and Jackson are sophomores. Simon is a freshman.

Newburgh Coach Mickey Burkoski has stated that he feels that Kingston is the team of the future in New York State, particularly in this area.

Rienzo accepts the compliment, but has some other thoughts.

"It would be nice to become a powerhouse and make the State ratings. However, I think that we would find it harder to do than did the Goldbacks. We would need a little more height and would have to be more explosive. We've won, but we've never devastated anybody the way NFA does and can."

He went on: "As far as the ratings are concerned, NFA is still Number One in my mind. You don't knock off a champion like that. Maybe this Knights of Columbus Tournament in Washington, D. C. will vindicate me. I understand both St. Agnes, the Number One team and Number Two, Mount Vernon, are going to be in it. Newburgh is man-for-man the best team I have ever seen on the high school level."

"I don't plan a slowdown against them, but we will do something different on defense. You have to stop them from getting that great jump. The whistle blows and all of a sudden, you are behind by 14 points. They're that quick," stated the Maroon mentor.

We asked Mike about the controversial Simon and he had this to say:

"Herman has been suspended from school for reasons unknown to me at this time. He is supposed to be back on Thursday. It comes back and is accepted and the ankle injury he incurred in a recent game at Amsterdam is all right, he'll play. The kids want him to play, it goes without saying that he will help us. He hit 30 points against them at Newburgh."

Rienzo also stated that he felt that Newburgh had no weaknesses and felt that 6-8 center Jim Rogers was the difference. "If he fouled out, the game might be different. It, at least, gives us something to work on."

ON THE REBOUND: If one considers that the "Modern Era" of KHS basketball came in the 1955-56 season, when Gilligan took over the reins, the record shows that Newburgh holds a 23-9 advantage in the series. Rienzo and Company would like nothing more in life than to put a dent in that mark.

State Hawks Dump Oneonta for Fifth Win

By IRA FUSFELD

NEW PALTZ
Earl, Steve, and Bruce are unlikely names for hens, but this trio, more specifically known as Thurner, Galuski, and Kreutzer may slowly be hatching a winning basketball team at New Paltz State.

Paced by their steady stalwarts, the Hawks wiped egg on Oneonta, 86-76, here last night. It was New Paltz's fifth win of the season against 19 defeats, and marked the first time that two victories have come in succession for them since 1969.

The Hawks did it with a comeback, just as they had in their four previous triumphs, and the reason for the late game heroics was the fast break.

But if you remember New Paltz's early season contests, you'll recall that the second half spelled disaster for Coach Si Pesavento's team. Why don't they fold anymore?

"This is like a different team," the Hawk mentor said after his squad had erased an 11-point first half deficit to average an opening season romp at the hands of Oneonta. "With Thurner and Galuski we have two men who can explode offensively and who can play defense."

And since neither of the two was around until the current campaign reached the midway point, New Paltz could manage only one win. With the duo, the Hawks have chalked up four victories.

Kreutzer is a different story. Bruce came to New Paltz after two high scoring years at Rockland County Community College and tried to take matters into his own hands. The result was not much to behold, as Kreutzer would run and shoot while everyone else would stand and watch.

Now Bruce has settled down a bit and his mates have caught up with him. In addition, the 6-1 forward has become a veritable tiger under the boards as last night's 13 rebounds show.

Putting all the new-found talents together, the combination beat Oneonta's youngsters despite falling way behind in the No. 5 took care of burying that opening minutes. At the half thought, it's too late for this the Hawks drew to within four, year to be a success, but would 43-39, then allowed the visiting you believe next year?

REBOUNDS: Mickey Bar before the big rally took place. rington had 20 points but the Hawk frosh lost to Oneonta. 78-68 . . . In the crowd last night with Oneonta High School Coach Ron Pape with star center Dan Smith . . . Also on hand was Marlboro Coach Wayne Beck.

KHS Unbeaten in DUSO

NYACK

Gabriele said, "the kids had the goal of winning the DUSO first, and then going undefeated. It was something we've never done before and we're really happy about it."

For KHS to gain the final victory, the Maroons had to swim in what Gabriele called "the worst pool we have ever competed in."

The meet, held in the YMCA here, took its toll of two in the seven year history of the sport at Kingston, and swept through the DUSO league undefeated in eight outings.

"At the beginning of the year," Maroon Coach Ron Brandon Jones, Kent St. John, Larry Pizik, and Jim Gogg combined to take the 400 yard freestyle relay here yesterday to help give Kingston High School swimmers a come-from-behind 50-45 victory over Nyack in the final dual meet of the season.

The Maroons thus finished the year with a 12-3 record, best here, took its toll of two in the seven year history of the sport at Kingston, and swept through the DUSO league undefeated in eight outings.

up the heels of his feet. The injury is expected to have the Maroon swimmer limping for several days.

Fred Robinson had a problem of a different sort when he lost the 100 yard freestyle by getting tangled in the lane markers.

Fred had earlier been nosed out in the 60 yard freestyle making it the first time this season he had suffered double defeats.

Mike O'Hara finished up the year on a solid note with firsts in the 60 yard freestyle and 100 yard backstroke. Dennis Roth broke his own pool record in the 400 yard freestyle and Gogg and John Edwards were winners in the 200 yard freestyle and 100 yard backstroke respectively.

The win evened Kingston's career totals at 34-34. Maroon squads were 0-16 the first two years of their history.

Rangers Swat Flyers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
New York brushed the monkeys . . . er . . . Flyers off their backs and kept the National Hockey League's West Division playoff scramble thoroughly scrambled.

The Rangers ended a two-year winless streak that had stretched over 10 games against Philadelphia Wednesday night with a convincing 4-2 victory that tumbled the Flyers to fourth place in the West Division.

Elsewhere, Minnesota took over third place in the West with a 5-1 decision over Los Angeles. St. Louis rallied for a 5-5 tie against Pittsburgh and Montreal upended California 5-2.

The Rangers had not beaten Philadelphia at all since January, 1969 and hadn't handled the Flyers at New York since Oct. 16, 1968. Over the 10-game stretch, the Flyers had beaten

New York twice and managed eight ties.

It was a string that didn't sit well with the Rangers and they used a Flyer tactic—the quick goal—to reverse it. Bob Nevin's unassisted goal gave the Rangers a quick lead in the opening period and forced the Flyers to play catchup hockey—something that they had forced the Rangers to do in nine of the last 11 games between the two teams.

Vic Hadfield's first goal in 11 games made it 2-0 in the second period and then Ted Irvine and Rod Gilbert connected for New York and Andre Lacroix and Guy Gendron for the Flyers in the final 20 minutes.

The victory clinched a tie for a playoff berth in the East Division for the Rangers, who will make it into the Stanley Cup 16, 1968. Over the 10-game season as soon as they win or

UCCC-Dutchess in Showdown

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON The high-flying Falcons of Dutchess County Community College play hos' to Coach Mike Perry's Ulster County Community College Senators in what has to be considered a "big game" at Falcon Hall. Game time is 8 p.m.

Should Dutchess win, the Falcons would be tied with Westchester for the Mid-Hudson Conference and would play for the top spot this Saturday in a 2 p.m. game at Concordia. Westchester is 9-1, DCC is 8-1 going into tonight's tilt. The contest also has great significance for both schools in that the winner will probably be selected to fill the eighth spot in the Region XV Tournament. Dutchess is 16-6 overall, Ulster is 15-11.

"This is a tremendously big game for both schools, but especially us," said Falcon men's coach El Evans. "We have a little more to gain from a victory than does Ulster. But, they are always tough and that playoff spot will serve as an added incentive for the Senators."

"I am quite proud of the way my boys have been playing this season," continued Evans. "We lost four of five starters and seven of our top 10 players at the mid-term break. I think that it is a credit to our recruiting program that we are 6-2 in the second half, not 2-6. We defeated Sullivan 79-67 the other night and the boys did it as a team. We have depth and that has pulled us through this far."

Evans went on: "The team work our boys have displayed has been something else again. Players like Pat O'Brien, Pete Daley, Mickey Paul and Arnie Cole have been tremendous. It is tough to cite any one of them as individuals. They have really come through. In other years, if we lost just one or two boys from the first five or six players, we were hurting. This year, our depth has carried us."

"We plan to run our own game, working for the good shot," he stated. "We like to run once in a while, but, we don't have the height to do that now," he concluded. Ulster dropped an 83-70 decision to DCC earlier this season, with Glenn Berry hitting 21 points and George Civile firing in 15.

In their last outing, the Senators defeated Orange, 92-69, having done very well, surprisingly well, since the mid-term break. We will have to stop Daley and O'Brien if we plan on winning this one. This game means so much to both schools," he concluded.

scorer with a 21.3 average. Weeks is hitting 11.8, McDonald is scoring at an 11.6 clip while Govantes is averaging 11.2. As a team, Ulster is averaging 81.2 points per game on the offense.

Perry has a lot of respect for this DCC quintet. "They're a very good club," he said. "They have done very well, surprisingly well, since the mid-term break. We will have to stop Daley and O'Brien if we plan on winning this one. This game means so much to both schools," he concluded.

PGA Field Keeps Weather Eye on Palmer

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—The whole field had its eye on Arnold Palmer and Palmer had his weather eye on the wind, today in the opening round of the 53rd PGA golf championship.

The big questions as a field of 146 began the 72-hole test over the 7,096-yard, par 72 PGA national club course was whether Palmer's first victory in 14 months last week means his return to rule all the pros — and how the gusting wind would affect the stars' play.

"I feel my game is reasonably good right now," said Palmer, who at 41 is making another bid for the only major championship that has escaped him during his illustrious career. That could be the best news for his fans in "Arnie's Army," and the worst for his foes.

Palmer, Florida resident Jack Nicklaus, defending champion Dave Stockton, and Tom Shaw, the only player to win two tournaments so far this year, were the chief pre-tournament favorites, plus Masters champion Billy Casper, U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin of England, and Texan Miller Barber, golf's "Mister X" who ranks second to Shaw in 1971 money winnings.

Palmer, who has finished second three times in the PGA, including last year, admits that he wants to win this one, "very badly." He declined to reveal his score in his final practice round Wednesday, saying he was "just horsing around, testing out the grain of the Bermuda greens to see how they affect the roll of the ball from different spots."

The 29-year-old Stockton, who said he is "tired and rundown," shot a one-over-par 35-38-73 in his windup and was a bit optimistic over his chances. "I don't think I should be the favorite," he said. "But I'd be an idiot if I said I don't think I have a good chance to win."

"My short irons are not as good right now as they should be," Stockton said, "but on this course I don't think that's going to be important. The greens are big and, if you can keep your tee shot in the fairway, you should hit the greens with your second long iron. That means it all depends on how the putts are dropping, and putting is supposed to be one of the strong points of my game."

Stockton won the PGA last August at Tulsa, Okla., so, with the PGA moved up to February, is defending after only a six-month reign. "I'm sort of a half-champion," grinned the Westlake, Calif., pro. "I went to the champions dinner the other night with all those famous fellows and I felt like a juvenile delinquent. I kept thinking somebody would throw me out."

The wind has concerned all the golfers in practice and his windup and was a bit

"At this time of the year in Florida," he said, "the wind moves around the clock every few days. Thursday it should be from the southeast, but by Sunday it should be around in the northwest and fairly strong."

Stockton said hitters who keep their drives low, like Palmer, Lee Trevino, and himself "should be better off than the fellows who hit high in the wind."

Nicklaus, who never plays this course although he lives not far away because it's "too crowded," thinks strength will be a factor.

"The guy who wins will be somebody who can keep hitting long for four days in the wind," he said. "They told me the wind was 18 miles per hour Wednesday," said Stockton. "My guess is it won't be much less than that any day."

Bucks, Knicks Roll in NBA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's a long way from the playoffs and Milwaukee hasn't won the title yet—but the Bucks can still claim they're the best in the National Basketball Association.

The Bucks, going from streak to streak all season, captured their 13th straight victory and 58th in 69 games this season with a 139-104 blasting of San Diego Wednesday night. Thus, with 13 games remaining in regular-season play, they assured themselves of the best record in the league.

New York's champion Knicks improved their second-best NBA record to 44-26 with a 125-105 thrashing of Cincinnati. In other games Boston bounced Los Angeles 116-96, Atlanta tripped Portland 118-107, San Francisco nipped Detroit 117-115 and Seattle ripped Cleveland 123-101.

In the American Basketball Association the New York Nets bombed Pittsburgh 134-108, Kentucky whipped Memphis 126-115, Indiana beat Texas 117-113, the Floridians edged Denver 112-110 and Carolina outlasted Virginia 144-137 in overtime.

San Diego stayed within striking distance, trailing only 62-53 at the half, before the Bucks went to work, pulling away by 16 points after three periods, then bombing in 40 points in the final period.

Elvin Hayes of the Rockets and Lew Alcindor of Milwaukee played to a virtual standoff with the Big E winning the scoring battle 23-20 and the Big A outrebounding Hayes 13-11. It was Bob Dandridge's 33 points that made the difference.

New York held a slim 80-79 lead late in the third period before Dave DeBusschere and Bill Bradley went to work with deadly outside shooting as the Knicks erupted for 39 fourth-quarter points. Walt Frazier topped the winners with 26 points and Bradley added 24 and DeBusschere 18 while Cincinnati's Flynn Robinson topped everyone with 29.

Boston held Los Angeles scoring star Jerry West to just one field goal and a total of 10 points while John Havlicek, Jo Jo White and Don Nelson teamed for 72 points as the Celtics buried the Lakers, topped by Wilt Chamberlain's 27 points.

Lou Hudson's 38 points and Pete Maravich's 28 plus a dazzling passing exhibition by "Pistol Pete" and Walt Hazzard enabled Atlanta to turn back the Trail Blazers, paced by Jim Barnett's 26.

Nate Thurmond hit a career-high 43 points for San Francisco but it was Jeff Mullins' field goal and free throw in the closing seconds that gave the Warriors their come-from-behind victory over Detroit. Dave Bing had 32 for the Pistons.

Agudas Achim

Shabbat services at Congregation Agudas Achim, 254 Lucas Avenue, will be conducted according to the following schedule. Mincha and Kabbalat Shabbat at 5:30 p.m. Shabbat services at 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Rabbi Howard Gershon and Cantor Herman Slomovits will officiate. Light Shabbat candles at 5:22 p.m. Daily services are conducted at 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. On Shabbat morning David Trast, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Trast, will become a Bar Mitzvah. David will chant the Haftarah of this week's Torah reading, Terumah. Rabbi Gershon in his address to David will present him with the gift of the Sisterhood of Agudas Achim and the gift of the Kingston Talmud Torah. Mazel Tov wishes to the parents, grandparents, and great grandfather, M. Goldberg. A kiddush, given by Mr. and Mrs. Ira Trast in honor of the simcha, will follow the service.

Ahavath Israel

Religious services are held at Congregation Ahavath Israel, a Conservative Synagogue, at 100 Lucas Avenue, every Friday at 8 p.m., and Saturday at 9:30 a.m. An Oneg Shabbat follows the Friday night services and a Kiddush follows the Saturday morning services. Everyone is welcome. This Friday night the services will be conducted by Rabbi Harry Z. Schechtman, who will deliver his sermon entitled "Man, The Builder, on the theme of the Building of the Tabernacle as described in this Sabbath's reading of the Bible. The liturgy will be chanted by Cantor David Katchen. The Mourners Prayer will be offered for the following whose yahrtzeiten will be observed in the coming week: Fannie Brenner, Yaakov ben Schloim Brines, Jacob Cohen, Sarah Estroff, Elsie Landsman, Sarah Levy, Emil Lipton, Solomon Rafalowsky and Hyman Rosenthal. Those who are observing these yahrtzeiten are given the opportunity to say the Kaddish at the Friday night services. Preparations are being made for the Holiday of Purim, with the reading of the Scroll of Esther and the Purim Party for the children on the evening of Wednesday, March 10. A mask march will be held, and prizes will be awarded for the best Purim costumes.

Emissary From Vatican Visits The Kremlin

MOSCOW (UPI)—For the first time since communism came to the Kremlin, the Soviets today officially received an emissary of the Vatican. Archbishop Agostino Casaroli, one of the church's smoothest diplomats and a man experienced in dealing with Communist regimes, arrived in Moscow late Wednesday and was greeted officially by a representative of the Soviet foreign ministry. Officially, Casaroli came to deposit the Vatican's documents of ratification of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty. Unofficially, the prelate will stay five days to see Soviet officials for talks that could determine the course of future relations between the atheist Kremlin and the Roman Catholic Vatican — once considered irreconcilable enemies.

Temple Emanuel

Sabbath Eve Services will be held at Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue, Friday, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Services will be conducted by Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn, assisted by Dr. John Park. Guest speaker will be Barry Axler, executive director of the Jewish Community Council who will speak on "Something to Believe In." During services, the memories of the following will be invoked: Reuben Kurland, Alex Shaymow, Saul Stern, Dr. A. A. Stern, Morris Krumholz, Bette Greenwald, Melvin Wolff, Sophia N. Wetterhahn, Morton D. Zucker, Anna Koslowsky. Following services, the Oneg Shabbat will be sponsored by Temple Sisterhood. The regular meeting of the Temple Sisterhood will take place March 3, at 8:30 p.m. at the Temple. There will be a special program by Social Action Chairman Elaine Selden. Ecological Dilemma. Program chairman is Anne Breuer. On Friday evening, March 5, there will be a panel discussion Education and the Jewish Parent, featuring Mrs. Charles Ronder, Mrs. Jonathan Oseas, Dr. Herman Lowe, Leonard Zimet and Rabbi Eichhorn as moderator. The Temple Youth Group will conduct a conclave March 19-21. One hundred and fifty out-of-town teenagers will be here for the conclave. Persons interested in providing housing for the weekend for some of the visitors are asked to contact Jon Eldridge or Steve Mezer. There will be no Religious School on Saturday, March 20.

Dear Abby

'Naked' Without Rings

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have been widowed twice and I am not and old lady. Unless you call 49 "old."

After my first husband died, I continued to wear my wedding ring. A friend who had recently lost his wife became interested in me. He said he didn't object to my wearing my wedding ring if it made me feel better. Somehow it did, so I just never took it off. Well, I married this fine man and he put a second wedding ring on my finger right next to my first.

Two years later my second husband died. It's been 14 months since his death and I am again being asked out. Perhaps I should mention that I have never taken either one of my two wedding rings off. Every man who meets me asks me why I wear two wedding rings. Some think I shouldn't even wear one. I tell them the truth. They all think I am strange, but Abby, my hands would feel "naked" without them. What is the correct thing to do?

TWO RINGS
DEAR TWO: The correct thing would be to remove both wedding rings if you are interested in marrying a third time. Your second husband was unusually generous. I doubt if you will find a man who will willingly contribute to a "three ring circus."

DEAR ABBY: Since my divorce a year ago, I have gone with several women, but have not been intimate with any of them.

A few months ago, just for sexual outlet, I picked up a young and pretty girl off the street and took her to my apartment. She was a prostitute, so I paid her. Since then I've seen her several times. I have even bought her dinner. (She doesn't drink and I don't either.) I have grown fond of her, and have even thought of asking her to give up being a woman of the streets and go with only me. I would even stop my sex relations with her to prove I want her company only because I like her. (Possibly I am in love with her.)

What she is and has been doesn't matter. That can be changed if she wants to change it. My problem is how to let her know how much I care for her.

I will not hold her past against her. We all make plenty of mistakes.

AWAITING YOUR REPLY
DEAR ABBY: You express yourself very well. Just tell her what you have told me.

DEAR ABBY: I am a grandmother. As one would expect, I am placed in competition with the other grandmothers. I don't happen to believe in bringing my grandchildren a present every time I go to see them. The other grandmother does, which is her privilege. This gives the grandchildren the impression that they have something coming every time a grandparent visits them. (We live in the same city.)

What should I say when the little ones come running to greet me and ask, "What did you bring me?"

EMPTY HANDS:
DEAR ABBY: Suggest to your grandchildren's parents that they ask the other grandmother to cool the gift giving gambit. It's not good for the kids and it's unfair to you. If that doesn't work, you will have to cultivate the youngsters.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SWITCH (Q.) I met a girl in school that I liked. But when I met her family I began to like her younger sister better. Her mother says she's too young to date. I don't agree. She's 15.

That is only part of it. Her mother doesn't even want me to come over to her house to see her. Her mother wants me to come and see the sister I liked first.

What can I do to get her mother to see that there's no future for me and her older daughter.

The 15-year-old and I are in love, but we can't see each other. I'm 17. —Sorrowful in Fort Lauderdale

(A.) Down through history a good number of boys have liked one sister but learned later to like another better. It is not unusual for them to have trouble getting other people to accept this fact of life.

You'll just have to settle for visits at school or over the telephone until the 15-year-old girl's parents wake up to the fact that you and she are serious.

AN EX WRITES: (comment) This is for 15 and Worried. Don't believe all you read in pamphlets. They may have some truth about drugs in them, but a lot of it is there to scare you. The best way to really know how much drugs can hurt you is to listen to lectures by drug addicts.

I could really give you a lecture. I hope you decide to stay away from them. —An Ex-Addict in New York City.

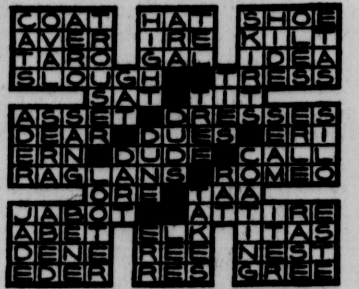

(A.) The best way to avoid the worry and fear and damage to body and mind that drugs can cause is to avoid them. From the start.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

Friday, February 26

GENERAL TENDENCIES: care and use caution with outside contacts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Monetary matters are not good to handle during the day, or you could make big mistakes, but later you get fine advice from experts. Your intuition is not working right during day, but follow it in the evening. Read some tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Getting rid of that chip-on-the-shoulder attitude before you meet with others is wise or you get into arguments with them over nothing. Social affairs are particularly good now. Dress in good style.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she could be one of those charming young people who could stir up quite a storm just because of the very inquisitive nature here and wants to learn about everything and anything the hard way, making all kinds of mistakes. Give some discipline while young. An early marriage could be a highly stabilizing force here since this progeny will thrive on having responsibilities of his or her own. Make sure that the diet here is a good one.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Avoid that pal who loves to gossip and makes you nervous. Then the p.m. will be ideal for whatever is of a social nature. Act to correct those situations you do not approve of. Show that you have wisdom.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) During day you have difficulty where career matters are concerned, but you are highly inspired in p.m. about just what to do. Advance! A new attitude toward others is necessary for best results.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make certain you carry through with promises made, though they may be somewhat boring to you now. You have ideas come to you in p.m. that show way to advancement in the future. Make plans wisely.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Find the right methods through which to make the right impression on others. Evening is best time to carry through with commitments to others. Use tact during day or you have real trouble with an associate.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Do not jump into that new contract with a partner during day or make promises which will be broken, p.m. will then be fine for some new approach to same. Avoid one who opposes you tonight. Enjoy social life this evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Although you are not in the mood to work, it is important that you do carry through with promises you have made. Relegate fun to the p.m. Show patience if co-workers are no more enthusiastic about work than you are.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Day hours are not good for entertainment but the evening is excellent for such. Keep working on those creative ideas during day instead. Labor efficiently and be ahead of the game. Don't forget to make that telephone call that is important.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You find it will be better if you do not say too much at home since kin are apt to be in a very nervous tizzy about something and their mood is not good. Do something to alleviate the situation quietly. Smile.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Day hours are best for completing what you started and didn't finish the other day, and the evening is best for looking into new projects, or starting them. Correspond with

'Nine Months' Uninspired

NEW YORK (AP) — "The First Nine Months Are the Hardest," an NBC special Wednesday night, was not the most subtle show of the season, but it had a theme—pregnancy—and the sketches and lyrics of its special music stuck to the comedy premise.

Dick Van Dyke played host and obstetrician during the hour while the joys and terrors of approaching parenthood were delineated by three couples who are married and are rather engaging professionals.

They were Ken Berry and Jackie Joseph, James Farentino and Michele Lee, and Sonny and Cher Bono. The program started with the official notice they were "infanticipating," a word somehow incorporated in a production number called "Ladies in Waiting."

It ended, of course, with the big event.

Every cliché of approaching motherhood was explored except the one involving pickles and ice cream. Sketches were built around the size of the doctor's fee, morning sickness, prenatal influence. There were production numbers about finding a name and the father's wait for word. The ladies dined about discussing their condition. No clinical detail was concealed.

It was merry, mildly ribald, and generally uninspired.

Earlier on ABC, Jacques Cousteau and the crew of the Calypso carried television audiences to the Galapagos Islands off Ecuador to inspect the marine iguana, or as Cousteau called it, the sea dragon.

These strange, rather small creatures—ugly but peaceful—have survived for millions of years. They bask in the sub-tropical sun on barren volcanic rock and forage for sea algae in the ocean. They have adapted to swimming and diving and are able to remain submerged for about an hour by using oxygen stored in their tissue.

The underwater photography was, as in all the "Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau" series, impressive in its beauty.

Cousteau had some especially interesting film of the sole family living on the island, in a house built among the iguanas. The head of the family has made house pets of them. Although iguanas starve themselves in captivity and the men of the Calypso were unable to persuade the reptiles to eat from their hands under the sea, this man summoned the creatures by calling them and they fed greedily from a dish he set out for them.

As usual, the hour was a visible and intellectual treat. Gratefully, the series has been renewed for at least another season by ABC.

D'Artagnan Best French Cardsman

By OSWALD &amp; JAMES JACOBY

In addition to being the best swordsman in France, D'Artagnan was one of the best bridge players.

Cardinal Richelieu loved the game also and today we find D'Artagnan sitting East and defending four spades against the Cardinal.

Porthos, sitting West, cashed his ace and king of hearts and shifted to the deuce of trumps. The Cardinal won in dummy and, without a moment's hesitation, led dummy's king of diamonds.

The Cardinal ruffed, cashed his ace of clubs, entered dummy with a second trump, lead a club and went into deep thought.

He knew that Porthos was a sound bidder, but D'Artagnan wasn't likely to raise without some high card. He surely didn't have the ace of diamonds. His high card must be the king of clubs. Richelieu played the queen and eventually was down one trick.

"What a magnificent rapier thrust," said the Cardinal. "Only a master swordsman could have visualized my purpose in playing the king of diamonds and found the counter play instantaneously."

For the benefit of those readers who don't understand Richelieu's diamond play, he was trying to locate the king of clubs. If D'Artagnan had played his ace of diamonds on the king, the Cardinal would know West held the club king for his bid. He would have made his contract by simply playing a low club instead of the queen.

D'Artagnan replied, "It was nothing. Your Eminence. A musketeer always protects the king."

Expect More Viets in Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Additional thousands of South Vietnamese troops may be sent into Laos in the coming weeks before the U.S.-backed drive against enemy supply routes is ended, say Pentagon sources.

In the days before the Laotian offensive began Feb. 8, 22,000 South Vietnamese troops were reported moved into position for the assault. But only 10,200 have been used so far in Laos, U.S. officials indicate, with the remainder in reserve in South Vietnam.

During a news conference Wednesday, in which Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird denied Saigon's drive was bogged down, a top general said only "the first portion" of the plan to disrupt enemy supply lines had been accomplished.

Asked if this was a hint of more extensive or deeper South Vietnamese operations in Laos, Pentagon sources said it could be expected that additional large numbers of troops would be quickly brought into position by helicopters once the North Vietnamese response was determined.

According to Lt. Gen. John Vogt, director of the joint military staff, the North Vietnamese have moved six new regiments into the Laotian panhandle area to join 15,000 combat troops already there. Each regiment at full strength numbers about 1,500 men.

Although the enemy has yet to strike in force, Vogt said, "he has given every indication of his intent to fight."

Neither Vogt nor Laird spelled out how the allied forces would respond.

He added: "There seems to be an impatience on the part of a great many people to have an operation achieve total success in two weeks."

"Nobody in his fondest dreams ever hoped we would achieve all the objectives in the first two weeks."

The general insisted the North Vietnamese had not stopped the South Vietnamese advance along highway 9, the key east-west highway into Laos where lead elements of Saigon's forces have been sitting for seven days about 17 miles from the border.

"The decision to pause at this particular point was made because of a desire to assess the enemy reaction at this time, where he did intend to attack," Vogt said.

Expelled

Leader of the militant Jewish Defense League, Rabbi Meir Kahane (L), walks away from the Palais de Congress in Brussels Wednesday after he was refused permission to address the 750 delegates from 37 countries at the World Conference on Soviet Jewry. The American Jewish leader was later expelled from Belgium by the government on charges that he was "a risk to law and order." The purpose of the conference was to solidify a unified stand in support of 3.5 million Soviet Jews. (UPI CABLEPHOTO)

Rebuttal Starts in Calley Case

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI) — The government called mental experts today to give opinions that Lt. William L. Calley Jr. not only was able to premeditate murder at My Lai, but "is normal in every respect."

Opening the rebuttal phase of the case in which it hopes to prove Calley guilty of 102 premeditated murders of villagers in Vietnam in 1968, the prosecution summoned to court three psychiatrists from Walter Reed Army Medical Center who examined him last month.

They comprised the Army Sanitary Board, whose report has not been made public except for the remark from the bench by Col. Reid W. Kennedy, the judge in the Calley court-martial, that it indicated the stocky little defendant was normal in every respect.

Medina to appear. Their testimony to rebut that of defense psychiatrists was expected to take at least the rest of the week and other rebuttal witnesses will follow. One of these was expected to be Capt. Ernest L. Medina, commander of the company in which Calley led a platoon.

Calley closed out the defense case as his own star witness Wednesday with an admission that he had fired pointblank into a group of civilians on Medina's order to "waste 'em."

He said Medina "was a very fine officer, and I respected him very much ... I am now and always will be very proud to have served under his command."

In 8 hours and 24 minutes on the stand—only 3 hours and 26 minutes of it under cross-examination—Calley as the 40th defense witness said over and over that he followed Medina's orders in the field, and in briefings given the day before, to kill everything at My Lai.

Recalling Orders. Calley was reminded by Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel, the prosecutor, that he had testified Medina also told him to "hang onto" some civilians for use in walking ahead of the troops to clear mine fields.

"Did you have any saved up for the mines?" Daniel asked. "No, sir," Calley replied. "Because Capt. Medina rescinded the order and told me to waste them."

Calley was asked on redirect examination by his attorney,

George W. Latimer, what Medina had said on the second radio call to Calley asking why he had disobeyed orders in not moving out fast, and Calley had responded he was checking bunkers and the Vietnamese were slowing him down.

"Basically (he said) to hell with the bunkers, waste the people and get your people out there where I told you to, and I don't want to hear any more about it," Calley said.

Texas Legislator on Spying

Faith and Health Affected

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Texas state legislator told Congress today he has lost faith in America, and his wife her health, because the military spied upon him over the past decade.

"I can remember thinking of Uncle Sam as part of the family," said Curtis M. Graves.

"But now I think of repression and surveillance and miscarriages of justice."

In testimony prepared for the Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights, headed by Sam Ervin, D.N.C., Graves recounted he recently learned from a former agent of the 112th Military Intelligence Group that he was a snooping target.

Graves said Walter Birdwell of Houston advised him "Army Intelligence has had me under surveillance since about 1960," and maintained extensive records on him in a "subversive file."

Birdwell also told him, said Graves, others in the 112th's Houston file included Texas State Sen. Barbara Jordan, box

Levy, James Hippard and Will Gray, members of the Ku Klux Klan and a number of anti-war activists. Birdwell reported seeing a card file on every member of the Unitarian Church in San Antonio," Graves said, and records on Black Muslims included such personal matters as surgical histories.

As for his own case, Graves said he apparently was marked for surveillance while participating in 1960 sit-ins at Houston, Houston file included Texas State Sen. Barbara Jordan, box

Levy, James Hippard and Will Gray, members of the Ku Klux Klan and a number of anti-

Thereafter, he said, it became obvious his telephone was tapped, and crudely. Sometimes after making a call "I could not get another dial tone ... for several minutes."

After his 1966 election to the state legislature, said Graves, "I noticed several times too many microphones were on platforms where I was speaking."

In one such case in 1969, he said, the unaccountable microphone had a cord running under the wall to an adjoining room, but "we couldn't get to the other side."

Graves said he suspected the monitoring was conducted by political enemies or perhaps the police until he heard from Birdwell.

"I understand the secretary of defense said that civilians will maintain the surveillance of subversives," said Graves. "My gut reaction is that Secretary Laird is trying to snow the American public."

In any case, he said, the FBI and state and local law enforcement agencies "have been passing on their information concerning private and public citizens to armed forces intelligence for years."

Egypt Asks U.S. Pressure on Israel

By United Press International Egypt has asked the United States to pressure Israel to withdraw from occupied territory and publicly warned Egyptian armed forces are "fully prepared" to liberate the seized lands by force if Israel refuses to pull back.

Political sources in Cairo said today Egypt's next move in the Middle East struggle would depend largely on the U.S. response.

The Egyptian appeal was in a message which Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad sent to Secretary of State William P. Rogers, the sources said.

The inquiry followed Egypt's positive response to the proposals put forward by U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring and what Cairo described as put pressure on Israel to Israel's rejection of the Jarring withdrawal would encourage Cairo in its current bid to reach a settlement.

Israel issued a statement Sunday declaring its readiness to start peace talks but affirming its refusal to withdraw from all the Arab territory it captured in the June, 1967, Middle East war.

The semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram said Riad asked Rogers, "in clear and explicit terms 'What are you going to do now?'"

State Ordered To Pay $9,300 To Black Muslim

NEW YORK (UPI) — A federal appellate court has ordered the state to pay $9,300 to a Black Muslim prison inmate from Buffalo for punishing him for his "political beliefs."

The 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, awarded the money Wednesday to Martin Sostre, a bookstore owner who claimed he was "framed" on a narcotics charge after being involved in Buffalo racial trouble in 1967.

By a 7-2 vote, the panel found officials at Green Haven prison near Poughkeepsie could not properly put him in solitary confinement because of letters deemed "inflammatory" and "racist."

The time has passed, the panel ruled, "when a prisoner may be treated as temporarily as a slave of the state."

However, the panel struck down the ruling by U.S. District Judge Constance Baker Motley last May that such confinements be limited to 15 days, saying such an order would interfere with administrative processes.

It also cancelled $3,720 in punitive damage which she awarded Sostre.

The prisoner had originally asked for $1.2 million in damages for 372 days in solitary. Sostre was sentenced to 31-44 years in 1968 after convictions for allegedly selling heroin in June, 1967.

assaulting a policeman during a raid at his Afro-Asian bookstore on Buffalo's East Side.

At the time, he claimed he was "framed" for his activities in connection with disturbances for allegedly selling heroin in June, 1967.
